Careful Driving Urged in School Zone

20 Miles Per Hour Is Speed Limit, Chief Warns

Carelessness of many Marion motorists while driving through school zones is a source of constant danger to school children and is apt to prove a source of embarrassment and injury to the driver.

This means you had better use a lighter foot on the gas peddle when you see one of those bright new miniature policeman signs in the middle of the street.

Otherwise you may find yourself ordered to the curb by a Marion police cruiser patrolman and later you will be pleading your case in Marion Municipal Court.

"NO BREAKS are given to any driver who speeds in a school zone," Marion Police Chief Tom Coon said.

He added that speeding through these zones is one of the worst traffic offenses in the police books and calls for maximum prosecution.

To try to cut down on such cases, the police department tries to have a cruiser patrolling in the vicinity of a different school each day. This means you'll never know when you might be in view of a policeman as you hurry to make up lost time or "just plain didn't realize" you were driving more than 20 miles an hour near a school.

FOR THE BENEFIT of the "Doubting Thomases" who say setting the 20-mile speed limit in school zones is a "lot of bunk" here are some figures on stopping distances which are recognized as the national average. If your car has excellent brakes, the pavement is stone dry and smooth, and your coordination is at peak, you will require something like 40 feet to bring your car to a dead stop from 20 miles an hour. Forty-feet does not sound like so much but it seems miles when there's a child dashing across the street right in front of your car.

At higher speeds your stopping distance climbs rapidly. At 35 miles an hour you can figure it's going to take you at least 105 feet to stop under the best of conditions. Don't forget that on the average you have under your control close to two tons of automobile and those who say they can stop their car on a dime are only kidding themselves.

WHILE THIS is the major fault of Marion drivers in school zones there are others just as bad, Coon said.

Among these are passing at intersections in school zones. While this is illegal at any intersection where the street is no more than two lanes wide, it is particularly dangerous where a child might be running across the street in front of the car you are passing.

Another bad habit of local motorists is not paying heed to the school safety patrol boys and girls. Often motorists at intersections where no traffic light exists will speed by despite the fact a safety patrolman is holding a stop flag in the street. This could lead to the running down of a child and a guilty conscience for the driver for many years to come.

When driving in school zones slow down to 20 miles an hour or less, and obey all other safe driving rules.

MOTORISTS IN MARION are warned to slow down when they see one of these signs. Here school patrol leaders Paul Borovsky and Janice Arnette and city patrolman D. L. Everly inspect one of the new signs. Patrolman Everly is head of the school safety patrol program.

Ike Declines Comment on White Furor

Indicates He Hopes Reds in Government Won't Be Issue in '54

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he hopes his administration's clean up in Washington will eliminate the Communist-in-government issue from next year's political campaign.

The President told a news conference he has said his last word, at least for the time being, on the Harry Dexter White case.

Then, in a generalization in response to questions, he said he does not believe Americans can afford to live in fear of each other forever.

He said he cheerfully acknowledges the responsibility of the executive departments to clean out Communists from the government.

Progress along this line had been demonstrated by a recent report of the separation of 1,450 persons from the federal pay roll for security reasons, he added.

Firmly, Eisenhower declared there is no one more active in opposition to Communism as an ideology than he is.

Whenever Communism presses in on us, he said he will be in the front rank of those who are opposing it.

He said he hopes his administration demonstrates by its actions that there need be no fear on the part of the American people that government service is weak in its vigilance against Communists.

A reporter told Eisenhower that Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, had said communism in government would be one of the major issues in next year's campaign for control of Congress.

Eisenhower replied that by that time he hopes the whole thing—the Communist-in-government is-

BROWNELL, HOOVER AT HEARING. Chairman William Jenner (R-Ind) (left) of the Senate internal security subcommittee, talks with Attorney General J. Herbert Brownell (center) and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover at the end of a closed meeting of the subcommittee in Washington. Hoover testified that he told Tom Clark, then attorney general, on Feb. 21, 1946, it would be "unwise" to let Harry Dexter White remain in government.

Head of FBI Sparks New Controversy

Senators Submit More Evidence After Hoover Contradicts Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators introduced evidence today that former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder promoted Harold Glasser in 1946 after FBI reports had linked Glasser with Harry Dexter White in Soviet espionage.

Documents to this effect were put into the record of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee which yesterday heard FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover testify that he opposed—but bowed to—former President Truman's decision to keep White in the government.

Hampered FBI

Hoover declared too that moving White from assistant secretary of the treasury to U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund, as done by Truman, hampered the FBI in its investigation of White.

Truman, who had declared he took this action to avoid tipping off the investigation of a suspected Russian spy ring, had no comment on Hoover's testimony beyond saying: "I'm sure he told the truth."

And President Eisenhower declined at a news conference to make further commnet on this specific case. He said he had spoken his last word, for the time being at least, on the White Case.

Eisenhower said, however, he hopes his administration's cleanup in Washington will eliminate the Communists - in-government issue from next year's congressional election campaign.

In a brief public session, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee cited an Aug. 2, 1946, letter Snyder wrote notifying Glasser that he was being appointed director of the Treasury Department's monetary research division at a salary of $10,000 a year.

'Very Serious Letters'

Sen. Jenner (R—Ind), the subcommittee chairman, said this was one of a number of "very serious letters" signed by Snyder.

Snyder had been invited to be present for today's hearing but sent word he could not arrange to come at this time.

Subcommittee counsel Robert Morris pointed out that Glasser's appointment as director of the monetary research division occurred after two summaries of FBI reports on Soviet espionage had been sent to the Treasury Department.

In a telegram to Jenner, Snyder said: "I want you to point out that the record clearly shows that within approximately 18 months after I became head of the Treasury Department and its 116,000 employes, to the best of my knowledge, all suspected subversives were separated from the department and none have been found, so I am advised in the department, since I left."

Head of Mental Hospital Cited For Contempt

Refusal To Admit 3 Persons Challenged In Cincinnati Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—The superintendent of a state mental hospital has been cited for contempt of court for refusal to admit to his institution three elderly persons.

Probate Judge Chase M. Davies named Dr. E. A. Baber, head of Longview Hospital here, in three contempt charges yesterday.

Dr. Baber acted under a law which requires approval of the institution before persons over 70 years old may be committed. The act went into effect Oct. 31.

Judge Davies disqualified himself from the case. Common Pleas Judge Carson Hoy will hear the issues tomorrow.

Rejected Court Order

The refusal of Dr. Baber to honor a court order to admit the patients is the basis of the contempt citations, said Prosecuting Attorney C. Watson Hover.

"If it isn't Longview, it's no place for these mentally ill persons," Hover asserted.

He said as far as he knew the issues had not been put to a test in any other Ohio court. However, when the hospital discriminated against elderly patients under a welfare department regulation, Hover said, the Common Pleas Court overruled the hospital policy.

The new law is unconstitutional because it limits the power of the Probate Court, he argued.

The hospital, with a population of 3,510, contends the law gives it some relief from overcrowding.

While Dr. Baber declined comment, his social service director, George Trammell, vigorously upheld hospital policy.

'Not Old-Age Home'

"Longview is set up primarily as a treatment institution rather than a mere custodial institution," Trammel said in a statement. "But for years the community has been able to use Longview as a depository for aged persons who needed only custodial care. Consequently no other provisions were made for them elsewhere."

One of the three patients denied admission is Albert Laurey, 89, a former prize fighter known as Kid Ash, according to court records.

He was pronounced mentally ill Oct. 6. When Longview refused to take him in, he was turned over to his daughter. Later he was found wandering the streets and jailed.

Laurey's plight was not Longview's fault, Trammell contended.

"The man is the community's responsibility," he said, "and Dr. Baber had the legal right to refuse to admit him to our overcrowded institution."

Swift Defense Expected

Government Concludes Kidnaping Prosecution

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government concluded its case today against the kidnap killers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease whose mother climaxed testimony by confronting them in federal court with the lie they used to get $600,000 in ransom after the boy's cold-blooded slaying.

The government wrapped up its case quickly on the third day of the trial to determine whether Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old playboy who turned criminal, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old divorcee, are to die in the gas chamber.

The closing testimony was largely corroborating evidence already admitted. Several FBI agents testified.

The defense was expected to move swiftly towards conclusion of the case. It has called only six witnesses—five for Hall and one for Mrs. Heady. Her only witness will be her aunt Mrs. T. R. Baker, Chicago, who raised her after the death of her mother.

The case is expected to go to the jury late today.

In an unfaltering voice, Bobby's attractive mother told the jury yesterday how Hall repeatedly assured her that her only son was alive even though he had been slain soon after his kidnaping from a private Catholic school.

Her multimillionaire husband, Robert C. Greenlease, sat only a few feet from Hall. The 71-year-old automobile dealer watched her closely as she talked. He had been there all day, listening to the government press its case for the death penalty for Hall and his alcoholic lover, divorcee Bonnie Brown Heady. Both have pleaded guilty.

At times his jaw tightened. His teeth clenched. And occasionally he would study Hall, who served in World War II as a Marine only to come back to a life of crime. Beside him sat Robert Ledterman of Tulsa, Okla., his business associate, who had acted as an intermediary.

Mrs. Greenlease's voice was firm as she told of her first talk over the telephone with the kidnaper last Oct. 4, six days after her boy's abduction.

Jury Listens Attentively

A federal jury, charged solely with determining whether Hall and Mrs. Heady should die, listened attentively as she related the first telephone conversation:

"I said, 'This is Mrs. Greenlease. We are willing and ready to pay the money, but first I must know that my son is alive and well.' He said, 'I can assure you your son alive and well.'

"He said, 'The request Mr. Ledterman made to have you speak to your son, we could not carry out. We were afraid to take him to a telephone.' I said, 'Well, would you ask him two questions for me?' and he said, 'Yes.'

"I asked him to ask Bobby the name of the driver of our automobile in Europe this summer and I asked him to ask Bobby what he built in his play room the night, the last night that he was home.

"I said, 'I am asking you to ask Bobby these questions because there are other people claiming to have Bobby. If you can give me these answers, we will know you are the people who have him and that he is alive'."

Promised To Call Back

Mrs. Greenlease said the kidnaper promised to call her back within an hour and did phone her about 1:30 the same morning and told her:

"'I phoned them but Bobby wouldn't talk. He just dummied up.'"

Mrs. Greenlease said that on her second conversation with the kidnaper he told her he could assure her Bobby was alive because he saw him that afternoon and "he says his parrot whistles."

"Lady, he is driving us nuts," she quoted the kidnaper as saying. "We have earned this money."

Mrs. Greenlease told the jury she had two other telephone conversations with the kidnaper and each time Hall assured her the boy was alive and well.

It was the first time Mrs. Greenlease had seen Hall and the 41-year-old Mrs. Heady, who talked a

McCarthy Moves GE Probe to Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph R McCarthy (R-Wis) convened his permanent investigations subcommittee in Boston today to look into possible subversion in General Electric plants in nearby Lynn and Everett.

At least 18 GE workers have been summoned to testify at a closed hearing. Two of them identified themselves as Nathaniel Mills, 36, and Robert Goodwin, 38.

McCarthy said on his arrival here from New York last night that today's hearing may have a link with his investigation of possible spy activities at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

"The entire picture here," he said, "is a by-product of our findings at Ft. Monmouth."

He did not elaborate but said he will call a public hearing in Boston as soon as "it is feasible."

The General Electric Co., one of the nation's key defense firms, said in a statement from Schenectady last night that its security measures often exceed government standards.

New Progress Made by Dean In Truce Talks

Reds Abandon Plan For Neutrals; May Clear Way for Peace

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Allied and Communist negotiators today appeared to be making some progress in talks to arrange an already long-delayed Korean peace conference.

The Communists today turned down an American plan for inviting neutral nations to the full-dress talks. But they apparently abandoned demands for a round-table conference at which neutrals—including Russia—would have a full voice.

The Reds sugested instead that neutral nations attend the conference as a third party to insure a "harmonious atmosphere," but with almost no voting power.

U. S. special envoy Arthur Dean said the vaguely worded Red plan needed clarifying and asked the Reds a series of questions. The Communists indicated they would answer at tomorrow's meeting.

Elsewhere in Korea there were increasing signs that the Communists might not resume interviews with Chinese and Korean war prisoners who have refused to go home.

The Indian command said there would be no interviews tomorrow and a spokesman said he had no idea when the explanations would resume.

The Reds talked to 227 Koreans Monday—the first interviews in 10 days—but the program has been stalled since then by Communist

Fremont Boy Fails To Answer Supper Call, Found Dead

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—His father called for him to come to supper last night.

Then, when the 13-year-old boy failed to answer, Maurice Joseph searched the house and found his son hanging by his neck in a bedroom closet.

Police, firemen and physicians could not revive Maurice Jr., who, members of the family said, had always shown an interest in ropes and knots.

They said the boy, an eighth-grade pupil, might have put a scarf and belt around his neck and tied it over the clothes rod to "see how far he could go and still survive."

All Fowled Up

Turkey on Thanksgiving Again? 'Oh No,' Say GIs

SEOUL (AP)—The U. S. 8th Army announced with apparent gusto this week that the soldiers in Korea would be "devouring more than 150 tons of turkey" on Thanksgiving Day.

But the apparent gusto, it seemed, was confined to the quartermaster people.

Slowly the dread news spread—from the rear echelons right up to where troops look out on the demilitarized zone.

You could hear the wail in tent and bunker: "Oh no, not turkey again—anything, even boiled eel or turnip greens."

What was the story behind this uprising against the turkey.

This puzzled reporter went out to investigate.

"Why couldn't it have been steak?" asked a captain. He was an obvious beef eater.

"Chances are 3 to 5 we'd have got turkey whether it was Thanksgiving or not," said a private.

"Back home," moaned another enlisted man, "we ate turkey about three times a year instead of three times a week, and I could enjoy it."

That was it. The Army suffered from a glut of turkey. How come? A lieutenant colonel wasn't sure. But he told how it was late in the war.

The colonel recalled with fine nausea those last harrowing days—two weeks when the front-line soldiers had turkey every other day.

"It was a ration foulup," he declared, "and it did us a lot more harm than the enemy did."

So the situation is normal—all fowled up. Turkey on the menu

On Defensive

Russia Fears West Parley, Dulles Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—Secretary of ary talks about our being buddies State Dulles said today Russian with aggressor China."

rulers have refused to talk with the West about European problems because of fear for their control over peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

"The Soviet rulers have retreated into a diplomatic defensive," the secretary declared. "The free world now has the diplomatic and moral initiative."

Be Ready To Talk

Dulles, in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the CIO said he hoped the free nations would "sustain that initiative by being ready to talk about any concrete point of difference—whether it be in Europe or in Asia, or whether it be in relation to armament."

But he cautioned that a desire to confer with the Russians "should not lead us to confer where the only probable result would be an apparent moral approval of the Kremlin's rule over the peoples of 15 once-independent nations."

Dulles said it is his belief that the examples of progress and accomplishment in the free world would ultimately cause the collapse of Soviet control over wha he called "the captive world front." He said it is neither necessary nor desirable "that we should try to foment violent revolution."

Claims Victory for West

It was in this connection that Dulles claimed a clear victory for the United States, Britain and France in their diplomatic exchange with Russia, beginning last July, over their proposal for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting to unify Germany and establish Austria's independence. In a note Nov. 3 the Russians in effect rejected the specific proposal, insisting that first there must be agreement to meet with the Chinese Communists on world problems, and that the Western nations must abandon their joint defense arrangements.

Dulles said that the real truth is that "that the Soviet rulers are gravely preoccupied with the mood of the captive workers" in Eastern Europe. Alluding to anti-Soviet rioting, he said:

"The events of last June, in Eastern Germany and East Berlin, show that the workers were being exploited to the breaking point.

"The fact that the Soviet rulers now refuse to meet to discuss European problems is not a sign of strength, but of fear.

Reason for Actions

"They dare not admit of a prospect of greater liberty anywhere behind the Iron Curtain, lest restiveness increase everywhere behind that curtain. So, they slammed the door on a European conference and started diversion-

Dulles linked American concern with Soviet imperialism today with the threat he said Czar Alexander posed to the world in the first half of the previous century—a threat which led the United States to declare the Monroe Doctrine against extension of foreign control in the Western Hemisphere.

"If our example can illumine again the great advantages of a free society," he said, "then Soviet

India Will Ask U.N. Debate Fate of POWs

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—V. K. Krishna Menon of India will demand that the U N. Assembly debate once more the fate of unrepatriated prisoners of war in Korea unless the Korean peace conference meets shortly, diplomatic sources said today.

The United States was reported opposed to a further debate on Korea at this time, in the belief more talk here might make the peace conference more hazardous.

American sources said Washington likely will take the position that the prisoners should be released to civilian status in batches. This applies to those prisoners still in neutral custody on Dec. 23, when the explanation stage expires.

India is chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission. Diplomats said India wants the Assembly to act because the Indian government does not want to be faced with the responsibility of releasing or holding the prisoners at the end of the explanatory period.

The armistice agreement provided that prisoners left with the repatriation commission on Dec. 23 would be turned over to the peace conference. At the end of 30 days, those still remaining would be released to civilian status. If the conference does not convene on time, the Indians want to know what to do with the prisoners.

No Loss Caused In 3 City Fires

Discarded Matches Set Dry Leaves Aflame

Marion city firemen were called out to three small, no loss fires during the last 24 hours.

Two of the fire runs were to the same location. At 4 p.m. Central station firemen were called to the southeast corner of E. Church St. and S. Seffner Ave. when a discarded match set some leaves in a catch basin afire. At 6:30 p.m. they were called back when another fire broke out in another catch basin just around the corner. There was no loss in either fire.

Earlier yesterday, at 1:30 p.m., Mark St. station firemen were called to the rear of the residence of Charles Morles at 1013 N. State St. when a discarded match set fire to dry grass in the alley. No loss was reported.

Election Sought To Fill Vacancies In Ohio Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard B. Kay, Lakewood, asked the Ohio Supreme Court today to require Gov. Frank J. Lausche to call special elections to fill vacancies in the state Legislature. Two Senate and six House seats are vacant.

Kay said he brought his mandamus action in behalf of himself and other Ohioans. He asked an alternate or a peremptory writ ordering the special elections or a demand that the governor show cause for not doing so.

Kay noted the Legislature will meet in extraordinary session Jan. 11 to implement a highway bond issue voted by the people in the Nov. 3 election and that he felt the people should be fully represented.

Kay said he had asked the governor by letter on Nov. 12 to order the special elections but that the governor on Nov. 16 stated publicly he did not plan to call them.

The governor said in his announcement that he did not recall any executive ordering special elections to fill such vacancies.

Kay said it was the "mandatory duty" of the governor to set special elections to fill legislative vacancies. He claimed the governor by failing to do so was derelict in his duty and guilty of non-feasance in office.

Rangers Beat Out Shawnee Forest Blazes

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—State foresters today began final operations to extinguish the last few flames of the fires which swept through the Shawnee State Forest here this week.

The foresters scraped out the last few firebreaks and raked dirt over smoldering brush in the area.

Meanwhile, anxiety mounted that fresh southerly winds, predicted for the Shawnee Forest area, might fan the few remaining small fires into another blaze such as that which destroyed some 1,000 acres in the last six days.

Units of the Ohio National Guard from Portsmouth, Ironton and Columbus were withdrawn last night, leaving to the foresters and state fire wardens the mop-up task.

Smoke blanketed the entire forest range, but no new fires were reported overnight.

One Mishap Listed By Marion's Police

One minor, no injury traffic accident was reported by Marion police. The state highway patrol reported no accidents in Marion County outside the city during the last 24 hours.

The accident investigated by city police involved cars driven by Ernest Fisher, 58, of 218 N. Grand Ave. and Cecil Daniel, 46, of 294 Barnhart St. It occurred at 4.04 p.m. yesterday in the 100 block on N. Grand Ave. Both cars were traveling north on N. Grand Ave. and both were damaged slightly police said.

Elderly Couple Trapped In Fire Near Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Trapped by flames in their upstairs bedroom, an elderly couple died today despite their football player-grandson's efforts to save them.

Dead were Thomas and Margaret Shea, both in their 70s, of suburban Bay Village. Thomas Krukemeyer, 18, carried his grandmother and his mother, Veronica, from the burning house, but was unable to reach his grandfather through the thick smoke and flames.

Mrs. Shea died on the front lawn as firemen tried to revive her, and Shea was found asphyxiated upstairs after the fire was put out.

Thomas is a star football player for the Bay Village High School.

Judge Cites Union In North American Aviation Co. Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Violence at the big Columbus warplane plant of North American Aviation, Inc., yesterday brought a CIO—United Auto Workers Union local a suspended $20,000 fine.

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Harter levied the fine on Local 927 and then suspended it on condition the union observe a limited picketing order he issued Oct. 3.

Yesterday's violence reports were the first from the Columbus plant which, like North American factories in Fresno and Los Angeles, Calif., has been strike-bound for nearly a month over a wage dispute.

Nine persons reportedly were injured slightly. Union officials said the violence was spontaneous and not union - inspired. Company spokesmen have reported growing numbers of workers going back to work. The claims are denied by the union.

Today's morning shift change was reported without incident.

Neil Collins, North American labor relations officer, said the Columbus police department has promised to provide five men at each gate to protect workers.

Big Still Is Raided In Hocking County

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—A moonshine still which officers said was capable of producing 35 gallons of liquor over a 24-hour production period was seized in the hills of Hocking County yesterday. Two men were arrested.

State, county and federal officers took part in the raid on a farm south of the small community of South Perry.

Led by Sheriff A. J. Waldron, the officers arrested James Baker, 32, and his brother, Paul, 41, charging them with possessing an unregistered still, making and fermenting mash on unauthorized premises and possession of non tax-paid distilled spirits.

Equipment seized included three 20-gallon copper wash boilers and a 50-gallon condenser.

Vernon Pupils Plan Field Trip

6th Graders To Tour Museum and Factory

A geography and history field trip of Vernon Heights School sixth graders Friday to Columbus will be the outgrowth of an undertaking of the school to encourage working for a purpose and saving personal earnings for a worthwhile project.

Nearly 80 including pupils and teachers, Joseph Dupius and Mrs. Opal Parmer, and a group of room mothers, will tour the archeological and historical museum of Ohio State University to see relics from the life and customs of early civilization. At noon, the group will be conducted through a Farm Crest Cookies factory to observe how foods are prepared under modern sanitary methods, and eat in the company's lunchroom.

Interest leading to arrangements for the expedition stemmed from study in class of early man and the progress of civilization. A view of the exhibits at the museum is designed to give the pupils an opportunity to visualize man's rise to power from primitive sign language to the modern wireless.

Each student has been required to earn enough money to pay for his share of expenses by doing such jobs as raking leaves, washing dishes, or being a baby sitter. A Greyhound bus has been chartered, leaving at 8:15 a.m. Friday, and returning the pupils to school about 3 p.m.

NOT GUILTY

PORTLAND, Me. (UP)—"I must have left the shower on!" gasped Mary Lou Wellington when she and her parents returned home from a week-end trip. The Wellington house was "swimming" in water. Her father, J. Foster Wellington, found her not guilty when he discovered a pipe had burst.

OWU Musicians To Present Program

OPPORTUNITY TO HEAR a public program by Ohio Wesleyan University musicians, a flute and cello duo, will be given Marion residents Monday night when the Lecture-Recital Club brings to the Hotel Harding ballroom Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Hladky. This will be the second event in the local club's patroness music series. The Hladky's, above, will be accompanied by Prof. Tilden Wells.

The Delaware performers will present solo numbers on both the featured wind and stringed instruments, and trio work with the piano. Mrs. Hladky plays flute, and her husband, cello, and Prof. Wells is the pianist.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hladky played formerly with the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra. The former is a member of the Ohio Wesleyan University Music Department faculty. He studied with Luigi Silva and Gabor Rejto at the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N.Y., and has appeared as recitalist and soloist with orchestras in Oklahoma, Ohio, and New York. At present he is cellist with the Duvall Trio in residence at Ohio Wesleyan.

His wife, a student of Joseph Mariano and Nat White, studied at the Oklahoma City University and Eastman School of Music.

A member of the faculty of the Music Department at Ohio Wesleyan, Mr. Wells was for several years head of the Fine Arts Department at Arkansas A and M College. He has done considerable accompanying work in addition to composing and teaching. He studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and Columbia University, New York City.

Patroness tickets for the concert are in the hands of Lecture-Recital Club members.

British Scientists Ask Fluoridation of Water

CHICAGO (UP) — A team of British scientists has asked Britain to put fluorides in its public water to help prevent tooth decay, according to the American Dental Association.

The ADA Journal said four British scientists spent an "extensive" three-month investigation in the United States and Canada before urging adoption of fluoridation in their country.

Their recommendations were but in a recent British Government White Paper, the Journal said.

"Should the recent recommendations of four eminent health authorities from Great Britain be adopted reasonably soon," the Journal said, "the dental health of British children, beginning at least with the next generation, will be considerably better than that of their fathers."

Time of Use Should Decide Room Color

CHICAGO (UP) — A decorator advises women selecting wall colors to be guided by whether the room will be used mostly in day time or at night.

"Certain colors appear to change in the two lights," said Margaret Hutchison, color stylist for a paint company.

Daylight adds a blue effect to wall colors, while ordinary light bulb rays sometime bring out the yellow tones.

She listed these guides for the amateur decorator:

Shades between blue and green—such as turquoise and aqua—seem bluer by day and much greener under artificial light.

Colors in the pink, red, and terra cotta family seem stronger and more orange when illuminated by artificial light.

Mauve, lilac and violet will be much weaker and drab-looking under the electric lighting and tend to become brownish.

Cocoas, cocoa-browns, fawns, and rose-beiges of a reddish or pinkish cast please most people when the electric lights are on, but they take on a mauve cast when used on large areas exposed to sunlight.

FAMILY IN A HURRY

PORTLAND, Me. (UP) — Mrs. Theresa Valliere, 30, claims a record for having three children by single births in the shortest time. Her two sons and daughter were born during a period of 21 months and eight days.

Cupid, Career Clash in Girl's Try at Movies

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — A soft-spoken beauty from a rich Deep South family hopes to make the grade in Hollywood by starting at the bottom—if love doesn't get in the way.

Anne Reed, the blonde, brown-eyed daughter of a wealthy Mississippi cotton planter, is beginning by going to classes at the Pasadena Playhouse.

"My studies range from the history of the theater to actual rehearsals," she said in the $110-a-month one-bedroom apartment she shares with a friend.

"That lasts for a year, and then there are two more years, but you go back by invitation. And then—well, I've wanted to be an actress since I was five years old," she said, her words tinged with a southern accent.

The 21-year-old hopeful arrived here Sept. 17 after a year at Sophie Newcomb College, women's division of Tulane University. She previously had gone to the fashionable Finch Junior College in New York.

"I'll never forget my drama instructor there — William Post. He taught me more than anyone else about acting," she recalled. She said her father approved her acting plans only after years of discussion.

"I told daddy that was what I wanted to do and he tried to talk me out of it. Then he finally said that if I wanted it badly enough and never tried it I wouldn't be happy," she explained.

"Daddy" is Albert H. Reed.

The deb does her own laundry and cleaning. She and Pat Ethridge, her room-mate, plan to do their own cooking, "but we've gone out on dinner dates every night but one since we got here."

Her current heart interest here is a young cotton executive whom she was told to look up by her family.

"It's funny," she mused. "We talk about cotton, and I keep telling him how much better Mississippi cotton is than California cotton. I'm going to give daddy a full report."

So far Miss Reed's impressions of Los Angeles come from eye-smarting smog, "unusual" driving and minor brushes with "wolves"

"They sure look at you when you're out in a car," she said.

The peaches-and-cream blonde, whose 34-24-35 measurements are well spaced over 120 pounds and five feet six inches, admits one thing might interfere with her career—love. She said she has tried to fortify herself against that happening.

"But, you know, that cotton guy is mighty cute."

Erie Buys Rubber-Cushioned Cars To Carry Delicate Goods

CLEVELAND — Ten rubber-cushioned freight cars have been purchased by the Erie Railroad at a cost of $76,500 for use in continuing search for ways to reduce possible damage to shipments, Milton G. McInnes, vice president for operations, said today.

The ten experimental cars will be used in regular freight service but their loads will be restricted to commodities which are more susceptible to damage in transit. These loads will include newsprint, sewer pipe, crockery, glassware, stoves, furniture, canned goods, radiators, sheet metal, tin plate, television and radio sets, machinery and other manufactured goods.

"Damage to shipments between the factory and consumer are of vital concern to the railroads and the manufacturer," McInnes said. "Shippers are conducting tests of their packaging materials for fragile goods. The Erie is willing to experiment with these cars to determine to what extent rubber cushioning will help reduce this in-transit damage."

He added that the study will also utilize impact recorders which will be placed in the load and on the center sill of the car. These sealed machines have a pen traveling over a moving tape and indicate the time of shock or unusual handling which the freight car may experience during a trip. Inspections of the shipment will be made at loading and unloading points in order to help understand the cause for any damage which may be found.

The experimental cars, developed by Pullman-Standard Car Co., have rubber-cushioned underframes. The rubber cushion supplements the standard draft gear for absorbing the impact effect in train and yard handling of freight cars.

How Red Was the Herring?

As Mr. Truman says, he knows "how to take care of himself."

What the rest of us want to know is how well he took care of the country — how well his associates in office took care of it.

The Communists were running at large in Washington when Mr. Truman became president in 1945. Where he got into trouble was in letting them down easy after he found out what they were doing. That's the dynamite in the Harry Dexter White case.

Why did it take so long to get rid of men like White after their loyalty had been brought into question, and why did it finally take the scandal-popping events of 1948 to reveal what had been happening during the years when political pinkness was fashionable in Washington

The facts finally were forced into the open in 1948 by congressional investigations, the diligence of Richard Nixon, the stubborn determination of Whittaker Chambers, a grand jury investigation in New York and the development of a state of national awareness of malfeasance in high office.

Harry Truman sneered that it was all politics; that his critics were using a "red herring." He gave everybody hell. He "took care of himself."

But that was the year of the "pumpkin papers" and Alger Hiss. By the time that sordid story had led to the indictment of Hiss for perjury, the whole country knew that the security of the United States had been let go to pot while dozens of people in the federal government looked out for the interests of the Communist conspiracy.

The herring was red, all right.

Those in office who tried to keep the whole thing covered up have a lot to account for. Mr. Truman will have many more chances to tell how he and his political associates ran the government during the years when pinkness was the height of political fashion.

Americans are going to learn all about it even if it makes Mr. Truman see red herrings in his dreams.

Men Without Faith

Alger Hiss is eligible for parole again on Nov. 21. His application was turned down unanimously last year.

Hiss and Harry Dexter White saw eye to eye when both were helping to make policy decisions in the federal government before, during and after World War II. Both were drawn into sympathy for the Communist party by the same thinking.

They had no faith in the United States. They thought the world's greatest republic was washed up and destined to yield to Communist dictatorship.

Hiss and White were eager to hasten the day when ordinary men would take orders from authoritarians. They could see nothing wrong in betraying their countrymen.

Theirs was that insidious doctrine of betrayal justified by the explanation that it is for the victims' own good.

This doctrine was found all through government in the era when sweaty-handed reformers were dedicated to the proposition that America needed to be made over so they—and not the American people—would be the sovereign power.

In the presidential election of 1952, their evil works were repudiated. There was a reaffirmation of faith in America.

Many people now would like to smear and distort that reaffirmation. They would like to gloss over the fact of New Deal and Fair Deal support for the Alger Hisses and Harry Dexter Whites.

They tried to keep Hiss out of prison. They would like to divert attention from the way White was kept on the federal payroll after he had been both suspected and accused of disloyalty amounting to treason.

They won't succeed. The red plague their proteges spread has come back to haunt the politicans who must accept historic responsibility for an era when treason was fashionable in Washington.

This Lady Was Burning

In case you thought Mme. Vijaya Lakmi Pandit, lady president of the United Nations General Assembly, was a personable figurehead, here are some of her thoughts on the U.N. charter.

She told a group of women in New York City a few days ago the charter was a "mass of words" being misused by people with bad consciences about peace.

She further explained as follows:

These people don't believe in peace sincerely enough to make any sacrifices for it. So they just adopt resolutions about it while fanning the hatreds and animosities that breed war. Then they misinterpret and twist the charter of the United Nations to make it appear that the document somehow is at fault, instead of the bad faith which hides behind the document.

Time To 'De-Recognize'

By David Lawrence

Soviet Has Never Kept Solemn Pledge to U.S.

Twenty years ago this week the United States government extended diplomatic recognition to the Soviet government in Moscow—and the record shows that every year since, the Communist government has violated the solemn pledges given on that date

The United States for 16 years—from 1917 to 1933—under Republican as well as Democratic administrations, had withheld recognition even though the Communist regime exercised complete military control of all the Soviet territory.

The reason was that the Communist regime had not shown itself willing or capable of honoring international obligations and had insisted on the right to infiltrate the territory of this country with its organizations.

THE STORY of Harry Dexter White, Alger Hiss and the many others who promoted the Communist cause while employed by the United States government would not be in the headlines today except for the presence of Communist agents such as Elizabeth Bentley, Whittaker Chambers and others who operated at the behest of Russian agents, many of them functioning directly out of the Russian Embassy in Washington, and the Russian consulates in different parts of the country.

The proof is voluminous that the Soviet government has maintained a system of espionage in this country.

The records of the FBI and of the Senate and House committees for nearly 20 years have revealed such espionage and infiltration.

ANYBODY WHO reads the pledges given by Soviet Russia and then looks at the headlines of today will see at a glance how flagrantly the Soviet regime has violated the pledge it gave President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he extended recognition November 16, 1933.

A case for the "de-recognition" of the Soviet government has been made by the Soviet agents in this country themselves. The severance of diplomatic relations now would be logical in view of the breaking of the agreement of 1933 signed by Foreign Secretary Litvinoff, which reads as follows:

1—COINCIDENT with the establishment of diplomatic relations between our two governments it will be the fixed policy of the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics: to respect scrupulously the indisputable right of the United States to order its own life within its own jurisdiction in its own way and to refrain from interfering in any manner in the internal affairs of the United states, its territories or possessions.

2—TO REFRAIN, and to restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government or under its direct or indirect control, including organizations in receipt of any financial assistance from it, from the tranquility, prosperity, order, or security of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions, and, in particular, from any act tending to incite or encourage armed intervention, or any agitation or propaganda having as an aim, the violation of the territorial integrity of the United States, its territories or possessions, or the bringing about by force of a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions.

3—NOT TO PERMIT the formation or residence on its territory of any organization or group—and to prevent the activity on its territory of any organization or group, or of representatives or officials of any organization or group—which makes claim to be the government of, or makes attempt upon the territorial integrity of, the United States, its territories or possessions; not to form, subsidize, support or permit on its territory military organizations or groups having the aim of armed struggle against the United States, its territories or possessions, and to prevent any recruiting on behalf of such organizations and groups.

4—NOT TO PERMIT the formation or residence on its territory of any organization or group and to prevent the activity on its territory of any organization or group, or of representatives or officials of any organization or group—which has as an aim the overthrow or the preparation for the overthrow of, or the bringing about by force of a change in, the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions.

The United States government has never set up any organizations inside Soviet Russia and in no way has violated the territorial integrity of the Soviet government.

The Soviet regime recently in connection with the Korean war publically admitted at the United Nations meeting in New York City that it had furnished arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese government which had been pronounced an aggressor by vote of the U.N. More than 140,000 American casualties have been recorded in Korea.

So, on two counts—the breaking of the letter of the U.N. Charter and the violation of a specific agreement with the United States—the Soviet regime is not entitled to any further consideration as the recognized government of Russia.

An act withdrawing recognition would afford great hope not only to the oppressed people of Russia but to the peoples of the satellite states behind the Iron Curtain.

Paved With Paper

U.N. To View Germ Warfare Thriller

By Junius B. Wood

Now that the United Nations has decided to sift Moscow accusations that the United States wages germ warfare, this country may see the elaborate moving picture produced by the Communists to prove their charges.

It has been shown to capacity audiences around the world but, except by a few in restricted official circles, has not been seen in the United States.

Moscow realized that its verbal denunciations of the United States are so many and so vehement that the world may no longer take them seriously.

An elaborately staged picture showing a Communist version of germ warfare in action could convince more people in more lands than shopworn oral and written accusations. Parodying an old wheeze — photographs don't lie but liars can make pictures.

MOSCOW AND Peiping rate this picture's effectiveness so high that, by latest reports, it has been sound-tracked in 17 languages. It was and still is shown in every country of the world except the United States. The original scenario of last year is little changed, but any new idea that comes to the producers, is inserted.

Where our authorities got their copies is a strategic secret. That a copy arrived within two weeks after the first Communist release, however, proves the efficiency of American agents in foreign countries.

The picture is professionally staged, artistic and absorbing, pretendedly as factual as a news reel. To those eager to be convinced of the sins of the United States or to many casual spectators, it is conclusive. To neturals or doubters, its cleverly staged sequences are full of holes. However, a safe conclusion is that most of its admission-free polyglot audiences would answer if a poll were possible: "We actually saw the germs. Americans must have dropped them."

The picture was shot in North Korea and Communist China. Except for two officials breifly honored with interpreters, all the Chinese and other foreigners speak fluent English, Spanish, Arabic or whatever language will be understood by a future audience.

SEVERAL DO NOT even move their lips. The soundtrack recites the script for them.

The first reel opens with a flash of airplanes in the sky, described as hostile American. Several pictures of what are said to be parts of exploded bombs follow. A Chinese dramatically waves what he says is a bomb fuse. The torn metal scrap could be found in any junk yard. One shows inside partitions for dropping propaganda leaflets, not for germs. When the producers realized this, that exhibit was cut out of later versions.

Magnified closeups of assorted germs and their carriers are next —spiders, lice, chicken feathers, beetles, rats, fleas, flies, mosquitoes, lunch boxes and other vermin too small to be identified. All and many more are plentiful in China and no American imports are needed.

THE NEXT REEL opens with a peasant being interviewed by Chinese officials in front of his hovel. During the night, he had been awakened by a plane overhead. He recognized it as American — some feat for a peasant. Experienced observers may have difficulty identifying a plane which they see in broad daylight.

The camera immediately switches to a broad plain without another habitation or even a tree in sight. Some hundred laboratory workers in white gowns with hoods and mouth masks are searching for germs.

The scenery is photogenic but one wonders how the scientists arrived so quickly form a distant city unless notified days or weeks in advance. Also Americans, though pictured as dumb, would know enough to drop bombs on inhabited localities instead of on wide open spaces.

The most touchingly bucolic scene is of a suave peasant being interviewed in front of a dilapidated cabin by Chinese and foreign scientists. Several days earlier, he had caught four rats—so he says.

THEY DID NOT have tails and he knew they were American, the numerous home breed all having the proper trimming. Being an informal proliterian, he had sent two to a Peiping laboratory to test their nationality and germ capacity and now exhibited the other pair. "Dropped by Americans!" the scientists exclaim, the often repeated theme song of the picture.

As their names are given, this committee of foreign scientists is a realistic feature of the picture. It was organized at Moscow's Oslo Peace Conference in March 1952 and arrived in Peiping, the following June. A Swedish woman scientists was chairman. Others were from France, England, Italy, Brazil, the Soviet Union and Communist China. The Frenchman, fondling germs while wearing a luriant beard, is easily the hero of the group.

The committee is shown descending from planes and on an extensive tour of the countryside and laboratories. They are fulsome in condemning the United States, even attributing photographs of diseased brains and lungs to "germs dropped by Americans." They hold up test tubes and look through microscopes in a Mukden laboratory, nod sadly and repeat the same verdict.

THE HIGH SPOT of the picture is a session with plentiful bottles, food and flowers where four captured American aviators eloquently confess that they dropped germs on North Korea and Manchuria. Prepared confessions are read—not approved movie technique but leaving nothing to chance. They say American commanding officers brief them on germ dropping but do not say where germs were dropped.

Mock heroics abound as: "After a flight a shower bath cleansed our bodies but our souls will never be clean" or "How can I go home to face my people when I'm a criminal in the eyes of humanity?" and similar maudlin tripe.

These aviators, now returned through prisoner exchange, say the admissions of germ warfare were forced from them. Only their names, serial numbers, home residences and similar declarations were true.

They were rigidly drilled in what to recite, even to gestures, before facing the cameras. Nor do the same quartet appear in all versions of the picture.

THE DRAMA and action slows down in the final reel. It is August 31, 1952, and the foreign scientists, wearing their city clothes, are in the "hall of the Chinese people for peace" in Peiping. Chinese officials surround them as they make a final report. The talkative Frenchman is introduced as a "professor of animal physiology," Communist lingo for veterinarian. Each of the tourists makes a speech. They agree that their personally conducted inquiry has proved that "Americans dropped germs." Each steps up and signs the report. Its last page lingers on the screen for all to read.

Delegates and guests of the United Nations soon will see the picture which has created such a sensation around the world.

THE AMERICAN aviators in its cast of characters can describe the coaching and tortures that forced them to recite the false confessions. The other cleverly staged scenes and sequences are artistic acting but proves nothing.

Authorities on germ-borne epidemics already have stated that what the picture shows is ineffective and ridiculous.

In the end, exposure of the obvious fakery and frauds in this picture which Moscow has used so effectively in convincing other parts of the world that Americans used germ warfare, may be the long awaited proof that this and all other Communist propeganda is false.

Turn to the Right

By TRUMAN TWILL

Having heard much said in praise lately of gentlemen of the Old School, we made a quick trip there to see what secret formula it used.

There was no secret.

The Old School lies down Memory Lane about a half hour's drive from Current Distractions. You go until the landmarks become familiar, then turn right and go until ready to turn back.

There isn't anything secret when you get there, unless you have forgotten where things used to be before they were destroyed by time, the elements and the mischief-makers.

There used to be a firm respect for the dollars that were earned in the sweat of men and women who labored, for instance. It used to stand midway between poverty and affluence—a little closer to poverty, if anything.

Beside it, there was solid, decent respect for property. Students in the Old School had come by everything they possessed by dint of grunting and groaning, figuratively speaking. They held all property in high esteem.

Most of it had been whittled and chopped out of adversity, a process which left numerous scratches and scars on its possessors. They fore unlatching their purses.

Things being as they were, moreover, the brighter students of the Old School never were tempted to forget they were at the mercy of things over which they had no control and of which they had no reliable knowledge. This kept them aware of the importance of humility.

With all these other things, they had a tough and rugged sense of value. When every possession meant giving up a little share of themselves as part of the purchase price, the pupils of the Old School made a point of examining all pigs in pokes before unlatching teir purses.

They had a sense of proportion as the result of being in daily contact with the hard facts of life. The Old School was ultra-progressive. There was no time to waste in it on anything of questionable worth.

Its brightest graduates—the quiz kids who set the pace—had mud on their shoes and callouses on their palms. While in later years they were to adopt many strange disguises, they never forgot what it felt like to turn a grindstone until their arms ached and to perform an hour's worth of chores when their fingertips were blue with cold.

The Old School is peculiar in this respect; It never gets any older.

It's always the one that was abandoned just before the New School was built, which is the one where a lot of suspected heresies are being taught to impressionable sprouts who eventually will learn to think of themselves as Old Schoolers.

That will be when the New School, itself has become old and the Old Old School finally has been forgotten.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

What? No Flag on the Play?

It seems to us that the U.S. Supreme Court last week handed down a decision on whether baseball is a sport or a business when it might better have decided whether a search for facts in a spy hunt should come under the head of football or pro wrestling.

Above all, the developments in the case of ex-President Truman and Harry Dexter White stands out. The general conviction that dignity, a proper conception of correct procedure and a desire to get the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth before the American public promptly and clearly suffered a lot of unnecessary roughness all around.

Perhaps nobody behaved as they should have in such a serious matter.

Ex-President Truman didn't please even his best friends (and he still has plenty).

All last week he seemed to be treating a great hour in history as if attempting to revive [illegible] vaudeville, do a new version of "Street Scene," promote a "Fun in the Morning" video program or establish a new type of street quiz.

To millions of Americans whose homes and lives might be lost through any failure to tighten the ropes against Russian agents, the news of a former president cracking gags, making with off-the-cuff jibes and calling any servants of the government of this country "People born out of Wedlock" (all in a spirit of high entertainment) wasn't pleasant.

"It ain't funny, Harry" was a natural reaction. Any charge, true or false, that anybody in high government office did less than was necessary in keeping out subversives, rates calm, dignified and sober comment, not a comedy routine out of the old days at the Palace Theater.

Harry S. Truman fought for his country on the battlefield in World War I and fought for it in the White House to the best of his talents. He could have answered the Brownell charges promptly and completely without ever giving an impression that he took it all as public entertainment of so light a nature that he might go into a dance number any minute, juggle some Indian clubs, recite a parody of "Frankie and Johnny" and prove he could be a replacement for Fred Allen as a laugh provoker at a drop of the hat.

The only figure who seems not to be having fun is the fellow who really wants to know what it's all about, what really happened, how it happened and is there any further danger from the same routines? The man in the street is really groggy. (And we don't think he is laughing.)

We think President Eisenhower came away out ahead of ex-President Truman in point of fair utterance and dignity.

He said what everybody believes that it is inconceivable that Mr. Truman willingly put a spy or alleged spy into high office, and said it at the moment Harry was crying "Snollygoster" and explaining that it was a dirtier word than Webster thought.

You're a big boy now, Harry, you used to be President. Remember?

Let's get back to a higher level. This isn't "National Stack Blowing Month." The issue is of vital importance and the public must have the full story and the complete truth, with minimum wisecracks, laugh-lines and walkie-talkie routines, say we.

Sloan Simpson, wife of ex-Mayor Bill O'Dwyer of New York City has signed a radio and TV contract and starts on radio Monday nights, beginning late this month. The rumor it will compete with "I Love Lucy" under the title "I Love Willie" is false. Producer says Sloan will discuss local, national and international events, art, fashions, society and sports. The theme song will not be "Just Plain Bill," we understand. Program will be called "The Sloan Simpson Show." Why not "The What's Cooking Hour" or "I Remember Gracie (Mansion)"?

Russel Crouse and Howard Londsay are the first to put a United Nations assembly scene on the stage. They do it in "The Prescott Proposals," and in Ben Aster they have cast a man who could double for either Malenkov or Malik. Resemblance is terrific.

New York Police, accepting a plan from the merchants, announce that there will be a rigid enforcement of the no-parking laws during the Christmas season and that trucks will not be exempted. Wanna bet?

Three Will Screen Candidates for City Post at Delaware

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — Delaware's new charter council Monday night chose third ward councilman-elect Chad Wirthman to head a council committee of three to screen candidates for the position of city manager.

Others on the committee will be Councilmen-at-Large, Paul B White and Edward Flahive.

The committee will formulate a questionaire for each candidate for the city manager post to fill out. It will also screen completed questionnaires, interview candidates and hand in a list of from five to eight candidates for the office, in order of their preference.

The council also arrived at the figure of $4,000 as a tentative salary for the new municipal judge; decided that $2,400 could be a guaranteed figure that the municipal judge will use in obtaining a clerk for the court; authorized the naming of a rules committee to formulate procedure for new council function.

Man Suffers Loss Of Hand in Mishap

Robert Eisele was admitted to Marion City Hospital this morning after his right hand was severed at the wrist when it was caught in a cornpicker on his farm near New Bloomington.

Eisele told a Marion County sheriff's deputy, who provided an excort from the edge of Marion to the hospital, that his hand became entangled in the cornpicker when he was attempting to pull out some corn stalks which were jamming the machine.

Eisele's farm is located on Marion County Road 60.

Club Federation Studies Revision In Its Constitution

Proposed revision of the constitution, presented for study by members, occupied the major portion of the monthly business session of the executive board of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs Tuesday at the Women's Club Home.

Presidents were asked to take the recommendations to their clubs and be prepared to report at the December meeting. The proposed changes were presented by Mrs. Paul Knauss, member of the constitution committee.

Mrs. J. Edwin Probst, president, presided and the meeting opened with group singing of the hymn of the month, "Come Ye Thankful People." Mrs. Tim Wyant, music chairman, presided and Mrs. Harry T. Williams played the accompaniment.

Mrs. Forest Flockencier reported that Marion school children had participated in the campaign to restore Independence Hall and that a report on the contributions would be made in the near future. She reminded the clubs to join in the fund-raising project which is sponsored nationally by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

A questionnaire, prepared by the Federation planning board, was distributed and the approximately 900 clubwomen are asked to consider the questions and submit answers at the December board meeting.

Mrs. Lester Huhn, program chairman, announced the program Thursday evening when Dorothy Fuldheim, news analyst will be the guest speaker The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock at the YMCA.

A report on the board of trustees of the Women's Club Home, by Mrs. Walter E. Hane, included a number of suggestions for consideration by the clubwomen. Announcement was made of a bazaar to be held at the home by members of Iota Alpha Chapter, Pi Omicron National Sorority, Friday evening and Saturday. As in former years the annual community fine arts day will be held in the Spring. April 20th has been set as the date and the program will be sponsored by the Three Arts Club in the YMCA.

Simplicity Is Keynote

Hostess Makes Guests Share in Responsibilities

AP Newsfeatures

NEW ORLEANS — "Come and entertain me."

That's the catchy phrase Mrs. Jefferson D. Hardin Jr. uses when she invites someone to dinner, to tea or just to visit.

"It's no secret," she says with an enchanting smile. "Just make your guests feel some responsibility for the party and it will be a success."

A civic and social leader in New Orleans for many years, Mrs. Hardin has met, worked with and entertained people from every walk of life.

"I find people charming on every level of society," she says, adding that she has entertained every type of person but a pugilist. She has nothing against boxers, she simply never has entertained one.

How does she make her parties successful, since she does not favor any particular type

In the first place, Mrs. Hardin lives in one of the French Quarter showplaces, the Pontabla Apartments, first of their kind in America, which overlook historic Jackson Square, the Cabildo and the St. Louis Cathedral.

The first time they visit her, Mrs. Hardin believes, they come to see her home with its quaint charm of old New Orleans. "But," she says, "they usually come back. And that's what makes me feel good."

And they come back for a reason. Mrs. Hardin makes her guests feel as though they are needed. She always tries to include everyone in the conversation and usually invites someone who can "give to the party" — someone who is interesting without being boring.

Nor is successful entertainment always synonymous with lavish parties, says Mrs. Hardin. Though she has occasionally given such parties, Mrs. Hardin believes the "most successful party comes from the heart."

The success of a party also depends on its simplicity and whether it is "inclusive." Mrs. Hardin explained "inclusive."

"Don't make the party a floor show with the hostess in the spotlight. Everyone in the group must be made to feel he is important to the whole. I usually try to 'pass the buck' with the conversation.

"It's very easy. Just say to one of your guests, 'You're a painter, tell me about painting.' And then ask several pertinent questions — one will lead to another — and your visitor will do more than his share in keeping the party interesting."

But of even more importance, Mrs. Hardin says, the modern hostess must "dare to be yourself. Make it your party, one that is representative of you and one that is within your budget."

Mrs. Hardin does not believe any hostess should try to "keep up with the Joneses" but, rather, should try to develop an individual charm that would make her invitations welcomed and her parties something to look forward to.

Japan Revives Shinto Religion

TOKYO (UP) — Shinto, the former national religion which Japan's militarists exploited, is making a comeback

In October, for the first time since Shinto fell into disrepute after the defeat in World War I, the Emperor sent an emissary to the autumn festival at Tokyo's Yasukuni Shrine where Japan's war dead are enshrined and every subject once had to pause and bow when passing.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida broke post-war precedent by worshipping at Yasukuni with considerable fanfare during the spring festival.

The government is resuming the practice of contributions to the upkeep of shrines, spending about 200,000,000 yen this year to help repair the spectacularly colorful and tradition-steeped buildings which are Japan's greatest tourist attractions

There is no tendency yet, however to reestablish Shinto as the official or compulsory religion.

Seven million faithful contributed in a successful campaign to raise 700 000,000 yen for reconstruction of the Grand Shrine at Ise, where the legendary founder of Japan, Amaterasu Omikami, is enshrined Pilgrims to the shrine totalled 830,000 in 1947, 3,500,00 in 1952 and are breaking records this year

The Allied occupation in one of its first reform measures, stripped the Shinto religion of all connection with the government,

Tainted with the odor of ultra-nationalism and symbolizing the discredited and defeated era of aggression, Shinto was on the verge of extinction in 1946-47.

"The way of the gods," which through reverence of the Imperial family and the great figures — mostly military—of Japan's history did not fit the anti-war, anti-authoritarian era of American "demo-kurassy"

Shinto shrines were virtually deserted Lacking government funds and stripped of their vast land holdings they fell into disrepair

Buddhism, the passive faith which most Japanese profess but do not follow strictly, did not fill the spiritual vacuum. Christianity scored some spectacular gains percentagewise but still touches only a tiny fraction of Japan's 85,000,000.

Japan became one of the world's most irreligious nations

Now the fad for change and revulsion against the past is wearing out. Japanese are slipping back into old ways, not in a precipitous rush led by a reactionary press or government, but haphazardly

It no longer is "old-fashioned" or "anti-democratic" to go to the shrine and pay respects to one's ancestors or pray for the long life of the Emperor.

Almost in the manner of people rediscovering themselves, millions are flocking to the shrines this year and regaining contact with the ancient lore and cultural history of Japan And most of them are dropping contributions in the box, and offering to the gods which, as in the West, go to the practical uses of building upkeep and salary payments.

insistence on seeing POWs from the same compound who were not interviewed Monday.

Tell Reds To Speed Up

The Indians have told the Communists to talk to an entire 500-man compound in a single day or forget those who are not interviewed.

Communist correspondent Wilfred Burchett, who often reflects official Red thinking, told Allied newsmen the Communists have given up the idea of a round-table parley in the face of United Nations opposition.

This would mean a major Red concession.

The Communists, said Burchett, now take the stand that the conference be between the belligerents, as the Allies propose, but neutrals attending as a third party to "exert a harmonizing influence."

Burchett said the neutrals might vote in minor matters such as procedural arrangements.

In a second subcommittee meeting Allied and Communist negotiators appeared to be near agreement on a method for deciding when the peace conference will open.

Follow Dean's Suggestions

The Reds suggested that the date be four weeks after agreement is reached on the first item of the preliminary agenda — composition and place.

Dean previously had suggested the full-scale talks start four weeks after the Panmunjom preliminary conversations end.

Dean said after the session today that once composition and place are fixed, other arrangements probably could be worked out in a hurry.

In the major debate over neutrals, North Korean delegate Ki Sok Bok said "we categorically reject" the companion proposals Dean offered yesterday to settle the controversy.

Dean had told the Reds the United States is prepared to ask its allies to approve seating neutral nations (1) after settlement of the Korean problem, or (2) if the Korean debate bogged down and addition of other nations "appeared desirable."

The Red diplomats said neutrals must be admitted to the conference from the beginning.

White

Snyder, became secretary of the Treasury in June, 1946.

While saying he could not be present today, he told Jenner in the telegram that "I shall of course be happy to furnish your committee any facts in my possession which you desire and to answer any questions you or your committee may wish to ask me."

The telegram was sent from Toledo, Ohio. Snyder is now an official of an automobile manufacturing concern here.

Glasser was a witness before the Senate investigating unit last April 14. He refused then, on the grounds of possible self-incrimination, to say whether he was a Communist or whether he had engaged in espionage activities while working for the government.

Snyder's letter of Aug. 22, 1946, first was placed in the subcommittee's record when Glasser testified last April.

Two Reports Sent

In reoffering it today, Morris stressed that Hoover had testified yesterday that two FBI summaries on Soviet espionage had been sent to the treasury prior to Glasser's appointment.

Atty. Gen. Brownell also told the Senate probers yesterday that an FBI report described Glasser "as an active member of the espionage ring." He also referred to Glasser as "a close subordinate and associate of White."

In what for him was precedent-breaking testimony, Hoover told the Senate internal security subcommittee at a crowded, televised hearing yesterday that he advised against retaining White, who had been named in an FBI report as a spy suspect.

Says Efforts Hampered

The ruddy-faced FBI director said firmly he had never committed his agency to any such arrangement, which he said would have been "inconceivable" for it and "not within my purview." He said FBI efforts to keep an eye on White were hampered after Truman let White's appointment as U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund go through Feb. 26, 1946.

"At no time was the FBI a party to an agreement to promote Harry Dexter White and at no time did the FBI give its approval to such an arrangement," Hoover declared.

But he confirmed that Truman, as the former President had said, permitted White to transfer from the Treasury to the monetary fund post with the idea of continuing surveillance of him. Truman had not contended the FBI had approved this course.

Hoover also said two Truman Cabinet members involved did not favor keeping White in government service.

Inquiry Continues

Atty. Gen. Brownell, who preceded Hoover as a witness yesterday, said any "reasonable man" would have to conclude that Truman knew White was a spy when he appointed him.

But the attorney general conceded, under sharp questioning by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), that it was a matter of "judgment." He said he was not impugning Truman's loyalty as the former President had claimed in asserting that Brownell "lied to the American people."

Brownell said, rather, that Truman was guilty of "blindness" and "laxity" toward Communists in government. It was Brownell who first made the accusations against Truman in a speech Nov. 6.

In Kansas City, Mo., Truman shrugged this off with the comment, "Why waste words?"

Truman said he had watched Brownell's testimony on TV but not Hoover's. He added of the FBI director: "I'm sure he told the truth."

Sister Comments

Miss Fanny White, 70, a sister of Harry Dexter White, said in Boston Brownell's charges are "false, all false." She said her brother, who died in 1948 after swearing he was not a spy, "loved this country" and "had no respect for Russia."

Although Truman seemed disposed to stand on his radio-television statements of Monday night, there was discussion among Democratic members of the Senate committee about asking him to volunteer a reply to the statements of Brownell and Hoover.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind), noting these suggestions, had the blunt comment: "I'm not interested."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, jumped into the controversy with a statement that Truman was "lax in his official duties and showed great disrespect to the Senate" in not permitting it to know of the FBI report about White before it confirmed the latter's appointment.

'Factual and Devastating'

Knowland said that as a witness, Brownell was "factual and devastating in showing the carelessness with which the Truman administration proceeded in dealing with security problems."

Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC), an internal security subcommittee member, said he didn't think anything new had been brought out by the day's testimony.

Rep. Moulder (D-Mo), a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, asserted that Brownell before the Senate committee "was permitted to make another political speech without being subjected to cross-examination."

Hoover, greeted with applause as he took the stand, unfolded a carefully worded story of backstage maneuvering in the Truman Cabinet during February 1946. For him it was unusual testimony about an individual case. He previously has limited himself to discussion of legislation and funds to operate his department.

Follows Bentley Disclosures

Testifying in a firm voice, he said that on Nov. 7, 1945, Elizabeth Bentley had detailed to the FBI her activities as an espionage ring courier and that a letter, dated the following day, was sent to Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, then Truman's military aide, listing White's name among others as possible members of an espionage ring. He said this was followed Nov. 27 by a 71-page memorandum on Soviet espionage activities, delivered to Vaughan Dec. 4.

Hoover said that when he learned White's nomination to the monetary fund post had been submitted to the Senate Jan. 3, 1946, he sent Vaughan on Feb. 4 a 28-page report on White. He said that in the period from Nov. 8, 1945, to July 24, 1946, seven communications were sent to the White House mentioning White's name.

Truman Confirms Report

Truman has confirmed that on Feb. 6, the day the Senate approved White, an FBI report was called to his attention by South Carolina's Gov. James F. Byrnes, then secretary of state.

Hoover said that on Feb. 21 Atty. Gen. Tom C. Clark, now a Supreme Court justice, discussed the White appointment with him.

"I told the attorney general I felt it was unwise for White to serve," Hoover said.

Evidence Confidential

Hoover met at lunch the next day with Clark and the late Fred M Vinson, then secretary of the Treasury. Hoover said that "Judge Vinson did not want Mr. White to serve as a U S delegate to the International Monetary Fund and, in fact, he did not want him to continue as assistant secretary of the Treasury."

But he said Vinson voiced belief Truman could be forced to sign White's commission. Hoover said he advised Vinson and Clark that the evidence was such that it could not be disclosed at that time because it came from confidential sources.

Hoover quoted Clark as telling him on Feb. 6, the day Truman signed White's commission, that "he felt that White would go into the job and then would be surrounded with persons who were especially selected and were not security risks."

"He further stated that the President was interested in continuing the surveillance," Hoover said. "I stated if that was the desire, we would continue the investigation."

Hoover said if there was any agreement to move White to the monetary fund "and surround him with persons who were not security risks, then the agreement would have been broken very early."

Points to Coe

The FBI director said Virginius Frank Coe, a close associate of White who became secretary of the international fund in June 1946, was dismissed Dec. 3, 1952, when he invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions about his relationship with White.

Brownell bore down hard on this point in his testimony. He said the Truman administration failed to take even "minimum precautions" toward keeping secret documents out of the hands of White and other suspected persons.

"The record fails to show that anything was done which interfered with the continued function of the espionage ring of which White was a part," Brownell said.

Hoover said in response to questions by Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) that his agents were "certainly hampered" in keeping tabs on White in is new job because they couldn't invade the international precincts of the fund's headquarters.

Not Enough Evidence

Referring to evidence against White, Hoover said that in 1946 he "opposed the production in court, or presentation to a grand jury, of some of this material because of its highly confidential sources."

Brownell said some of the evidence was acquired by wiretaps and thus could not be used in court. He urged a change in the laws to permit wiretapping in some espionage cases.

White's case was eventually presented to a grand jury in 1948 but the jury did not indict him. He died later that year.

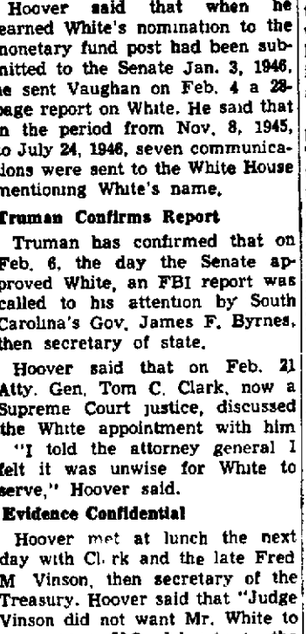
Brownell said some allegedly incriminating evidence against White, papers identified as written in White's own handwriting, did not come to light until after White died.

Brownell disputed Truman's statement that the monetary fund job was not especially sensitive. The attorney general said White could cast 33 per cent of the votes of the entire organization.

R. E. White Given Plaque

Robert E. White (left), chairman of the Marion County Savings Bond Committee, Tuesday received a plaque honoring him for his long and outstanding service as chairman of the committee. Making the presentation is J. Quent Williams, manager of the north-central area of the Savings Bond Division of the U. S. Treasury Department.

The plaque is a copy of the prayer given by President Eisenhower when he made his inaugural speech, and wood from the inaugural platform was used to make the frame. Mr. White originally was co-chairman of the committee with the late Elmer J. Schoenlaub. Following Mr. Schoenlaub's death after World War II, Mr. White assumed sole chairmanship.



INDICTED. One-time Republican party big-wig, Warren L. Stephenson, has been indicted on perjury charges growing out of his admitted attempt to become a "four percenter." The Washington socialite had served as executive secretary of President Eisenhower's inaugural committee.

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—When it comes to the city tennis title, the Joneses have it. More specifically, two fellows named Rives Jones—Jr. and Sr. And they've had it for eight consecutive years. Rives Jones Sr. has been champion or runner-up in each of those years. He won the title in 1952 but lost in the finals this year to his son in straight sets.

Dulles

communism will lose its deceptive appeal. Furthermore, it will lose its grip upon the enslaved whom it now holds. The tide of despotism will recede during the second half of this century as it receded during the first half of the preceding century."

He said it was up to the United States to produce not only military power but also progress in welfare and in justice which "the despots cannot match."

A second front, he said, is that of the colonial and dependent areas of the world. He said the essential problem there is to promote the independence of local peoples in such a way as to prevent them from being taken over by the Communists.

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell was scheduled to address the convention today along with Dulles.

Brought up for debate was a proposed resolution critical of some phases of the administration's handling of foreign affairs. It declared: A clarification of labor's role (in foreign policy) is long overdue."

Asks More Active Part

The measure called for a more active part by labor in the Foreign Operations Administration.

Said the resolution:

"The success of our foreign aid program depends on strong bipartisan support. The CIO, as always, stands ready to cooperate in implementing this program.

"We shall not, however, be party to any plan that would merely provide 'window-dressing.' We believe it is urgent to have a positive labor program within the FOA, and we will not support merely token participation in so vital an area of American concern."

Two of the sharpest attacks on the Eisenhower administration were made on the convention floor yesterday.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the CIO Communications Workers, called for the resignation of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell. He did so in support of a resolution defending Harry S. Truman against Brownell's charge that the former President knowingly promoted accused Communist spy Harry Dexter White in government service. The resolution was passed unanimously.

Benson Ouster Demanded

Another convention speaker, President Fred Heinkel of the Missouri Farmers Assn., called for the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. He said Benson does not represent farmers' interests.

Both resignation demands brought bursts of applause from the delegates.

Earlier yesterday the convention ratified a no-raiding agreement with the AFL. Then it adopted another resolution directing CIO leaders to continue negotiations aimed at eventual merger of the AFL and CIO.

nun at the Catholic school into turning Bobby over to her on the pretense she was his aunt and Mrs. Greenlease was ill.

Earlier Hall's confession, read in all its gruesome detail by an FBI agent, disclosed that the kidnaper was confident he had $592,000 of ransom money in his possession when arrested in St. Louis.

Half of the money is still mysteriously missing.

At St. Louis top police officials immediately expressed surprise over the Hall confession, particularly that part saying Hall's suitcases containing ransom money were not taken to the police station at the time of the kidnaper's arrest.

I. A. Long, president of the St. Louis Police Board, said the police board would resume its inquiry into the missing money.

Louis Shoulders, a veteran of 27 years on the St. Louis police force who made the arrest, declined comment on Hall's statement. Shoulders resigned under the fire of a police board inquiry into the handling of the case.

But Patrolman Elmer Dolan, the policeman with Shoulders at the time of the arrest, took the witness stand. He denied the Hall statement. He testified he helped Shoulders put the suitcases into a police car in which they took Hall to a police station.

Hall Worked for Short Time Selling Insurance

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Carl Austin Hall, now on trial for the kidnap-slaying of Bobby Greenlease, worked for a sort time last summer as an insurance salesman.

H. G. Sterling, an insurance company representative, said yesterday Hall made only one sale while on the job. The person who bought the hospitalization coverage from him probably won't claim any benefits.

The sale was made to Mrs Bonnie Brown Heady, on trial with Hall.

sue—will be a matter only of history and recollection.

Another reporter asked whether the President meant to say that he did not think congressional committees should continue their investigations along this line.

The President laughed. Reporters, he commented, are always trying to get him to say something about Congress.

He said he acknowledges that Congress has the right to go ahead and do as it sees fit because that's the constitutional privilege of Congress.

Eisenhower said he might have personal opinions about the matter, but he found no reason to publicize them except when he felt that the welfare of the country was imminently involved and then he would speak out.

He added, however, that he sincerely trusts that the need for investigations of Communists in government will be eliminated.

A reporter cited the statement of former President Truman, in reply to charges made by Atty. Gen. Brownell in the White case, that the Eisenhower administration had embraced "McCarthyism."

President Needled

Flushing, the President replied abruptly that he was ready to take the judgment of the assembled reporters on that matter. He swung his glasses and bit off his words in such a staccato way that several reporters asked him to repeat them.

The President repeated that he was ready to take the judgment of this body (the reporters) on that.

Eisenhower went on to say he did not like the word "McCarthyism" and was not sure what the term implied.

Sen McCarthy (R-Wis) has pushed the Communist-in-government issue.

Truman, in his speech, said he was not referring to the Wisconsin senator when speaking of "McCarthyism" — that McCarthy was important only as his name had taken on a dictionary meaning.

Truman gave his definition of the word as meaning "the corruption of truth, the abandonment of our historical devotion to fair play . . . the abandonment of the 'due process' of law."

Mess Sergeant Desperate

A mess sergeant told me he became so depressed he took to strong drink. He wanted to put up a sign on the mess hall door: "Cauton: Turkey Today." His major talked him out of it.

It isn't just the repetition that has the U. S. 8th Army down on turkey. The cause lies deeper than that—in the deep freeze where the turkey is kept, the colonel said.

"Maybe the turkey just comes too damned far and for too damned long," the colonel said.

"Somewhere out on the ocean it loses all its flavor and arrives on my plate tasting like a roasted plastic pocket comb—with sage dressing."

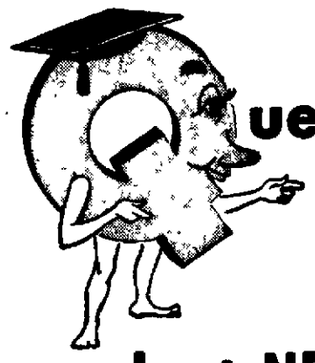
MEMO TO ADVERTISERS



Questions and Answers about NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

Q. What are the 3 most important rules for profitable newspaper advertising?

A. 1. Your advertising message should be newsy, friendly, informative, easy to read. Give facts and news about your merchandise and service.

2. Advertise regularly. Make your advertising do what successful salesmen do—call on customers and prospects consistently.

3. Insist on audited circulation reports that give you the FACTS about the audience that your sales messages will have when you buy newspaper advertising.

Q. Is there a measure for the value of newspaper circulation to an advertiser such as the standards a merchant uses in buying merchandise—for example, like STERLING on silver?

A. Yes—in the well known circulation standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

Q. What is the A.B.C.?

A. The A.B.C. is a cooperative, non-profit association of 3,450 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914. Brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

Q. What does A.B.C. do for me?

A. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of the circulation records of each publisher member. The results of each audit are published in an easy-to-read A.B.C. report for your use and protection when you buy newspaper advertising

Q. What are the FACTS in A.B.C. reports?

A. A.B.C. reports tell you how much circulation, where it goes, how obtained and other FACTS that help you buy advertising as you would make any sound business investment—on the basis of known values and audited information.

Q. Are all publications eligible for A.B.C. membership?

A. No. Only those with paid circulation. This is important to advertisers because it is evidence that the paper is wanted and read.

Q. Is this newspaper a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations?

A. Yes. We are proud of our circulation. We want you to know the FACTS about the audience your selling messages will have when they appear in these pages. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

A new phrase has come into existence, namely, Scientific Atheistic Knowledge," and it is actually being advocated. I quote from the "Sovetskaya Moldavia" and these are the words of Professor N. A. Ilin:

SOKOLSKY

"The dissemination of scientific-atheistic knowledge must play an important role in the working people's Communist education, in cleansing from people's mind capitalist survivals, the prejudices and harmful traditions of the old society.

"Religious survivals still remain in the minds of many of our people, especially in the rural areas, and without comprehensive, scientific rebuttal of religious tales, myths and fabrications, without explaining religion's true historical and economic roots, it will be impossible to ensure the people's cultural growth."

IN THE CURRENT relaxation from excitement over the ideological struggle in the world, the tendency is to become more tolerant of fundamental difference. In our true quest for peace, we turn from disturbing antagonisms in the hope that some way can be found to reconcile the irreconciliable, to discover a bridge over the chasm of divergent thought.

We cannot desert God for peace and that is what we are asked to do. How can there be peace without morality and how can there be morality without God?

Professor Ilin, as a Marxists, accepts a materialistic interpretation of man and society and therefore for him no problems of morality present themselves.

HIS IDEAS of life are determined only by the pressures of necessity.

To understand the treatment of prisoners of war in Korea, it is essential to realize that religion and morality are one and that those who reject God can brutalize themselves so that the commission of an atrocity involves no greater resistance to conscience than the extermination of bedbugs.

In recent year, such atrocities have only been committed by the Nazis and the Communists, the two godless powers in European life.

The Nazis destroyed human life scientifically. The Communists do not bother about the method so long as the end, which is the removal of the impediments to their progress, is attained.

WHEN PRISONERS of war are in the way, if their maintenance is costly, if they require care and treatment — liquidate them!

War is an ugly business at best; at worst it is bestial. Nevertheless, during the 19th and the early part of the 20th centuries, considerable progress was made in lessening the inhumanity of war, particularly in the treatment of prisoners.

Recognizing that soldiers do not have any voice in deciding whether wars take place; that they do not select the enemy and usually bear him no malice; that theirs but to do or die, the more civilized nations have accepted a code for the treatment of those men who are caught in the trap of international politics and are separated from their countrymen by the failures of strategy of other men's devising.

The Geneva Convention stands as a monumental record of a moral way of life.

The first international effort in this direction was a convention signed in Geneva, Switzerland in 1864 for the amelioration of the condition of the wounded and sick of armies of the field.

This meeting was the result of the appeal to the conscience of the world by Jean Henry Dunant in whose honor the flag of his country, Switzerland, was adopted as the symbol of mercy.

This is called the Red Cross and societies bearing that name were organized in most civilized countries.

In 1867, these societies were banded together internationally.

THE AMERICAN society was organized in 1881 by Clara Barton.

The Geneva Conventions lay down the rules for the housing, feeding, medical attention and rights of prisoners of war. The International Red Cross has been given the authority to inspect prisoner-of-war camps to see to it that they conform with the Conventions.

Soviet Russia, Communist China and North Korea do not recognize the Geneva Conventions; they do not permit inspection by the International Red Cross.

Therefore, they are not governed by any rules of conduct based on morality, but apply their own systems based upon nothing but their own necessities.

Their abuse of prisoners of war, as witnessed daily in the so-called talks at Panmunjom, is an example of what can occur if there are no rules.

This we have to learn to anticipate from such peoples; those who expect anything better are likely to be disappointed.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The special envoy assigned by our State Department to negotiate with the enemy's military and diplomatic representatives in Korea is a man who little more than three years ago leaned heavily on Owen Lattimore and his co-worker, Larry Rosinger, for advice on Asiatic matters.

RIESEL

Our special envoy, the man who urged his colleagues to work with Rosinger and Lattimore, is Arthur H. Dean, now attempting to set up the post-Korean war political conference with the Sovietized Chinese and the North Koreans.

-:-

HIS HIGH regard for Rosinger and Lattimore is on record in a letter he wrote in New York on April 18, 1949. A few months later, Rosinger and Lattimore sat in a special State Department conference.

At that three-day parley they were considered the leaders of the pro-Soviet bloc, according to recent Congressional testimony.

Rosinger, who has refused under oath to deny membership in the Communist party, urged the recognition of Red China and the choking off of aid to Nationalist China.

Because of the high diplomatic post which Special Ambassador Arthur H Dean holds, I quote the entire letter.

It was addressed to Clayton Lane, executive secretary, American Institute of Pacific Relations, Inc.

THE LETTER says:

"Dear Mr. Lane: Thank you for your letter of Apr. 15, 1949, together with the enclosures. I think you are greatly to be congratulated on your success with Gen. Marshall. I think we must be careful, however, that we do not indicate to him either (a) that he is coming into an institution of financial difficulties and that we are going to use him to bolster up our appeal to the foundations, who I am inclined to think must misunderstand it, or (b) that we are going to use his name to obtain additional funds.

"I realize that you have come into an exceptionally difficult situation, but I think we might go back to the publications of the institute and with the help of Larry Rosinger point out the difficulties our State Department is now facing in attempting to get up a constructive policy for China. I think we might make a very real contribution to the subject if we could state very objectively, but explicitly, problems which we now face in China. I am sure Owen Lattimore would be a great help in this, Sincerely yours,

"Arthur H. Dean."

THIS LETTER from Mr Dean had a very important postscript. It said:

"I hope you won't get discouraged. It is tough but I think worth while. You have my complete support but (1) I would not mention the Communist attack in relation to IPR publications, (2) for income tax as well as policy reasons I would not indicate we are engaged in pro-or anti-Communist attacks, (3) I would not indicate you have been brought in to relieve a bad situation. This has antagonized some of Ned's friends. Some way we must solve the Russian problem. It's up to us to find out what makes them tick; why they are what they are; it's not up to us to fight communism. If we try that we have no function; we must expose how it works, what it is, what it does, when it fails.—A.H.D."

AS I HAVE asked in previous columns of others high in our government—of men upon whom we must depend for leadership—who introduced Special Ambassador Dean to Rosinger and Lattimore? And isn't this the time for Mr. Dean to publicly repudiate them?

Let me add that for some years I as a neighbor of Larry Rosinger in an apartment house at 2775 Morris Ave., NYC.

Many of the housewives there would come to me and ask just how a fellow like that slim, mustached, dapper looking Rosinger could spend so much time in India and China — on is meagre official income?

They knew he was left wing. These good housewives detested him as their sons were drafted to fight the "voluntary" soldiers of a government he championed.

Why then did not our Washington people know what these good, politically unsophisticated mothers knew?

Critics' Critic

By Laura Hobson

Something new — and scary — in book criticism appeared last week under the widely respected byline of Sterling North.

HOBSON

It was about "The Marmot Drive," by John Hersey, author of the Pulitzer prize novel, "A Bell for Adano," "Hiroshima" and the world-famous, "The Wall."

His new novel is laid in Connecticut and many critics panned it in the usual terms of book-criticism — which, regardless of what I myself think of it is neither new nor scary. Publicly slugging a book or play as dull or obscure or just plain lousy certainly is part of the usual terms.

WHEN I SAY something new has been added, I'd better just quote Mr. North:

"In reviewing three previous novels by John Hersey it gave me pleasure to praise him for his great compassion toward (1) the Italians, (2) the Japanese, and (3) the horribly maltreated Jews of Warsaw's doomed ghetto. I shall try to be equally just in this review of a third-rate diatribe in which Mr. Hersey venomously attacks American citizens of old New England stock.

"If such a book as this had been levelled at any minority in the country, its author...and publisher ...would have been called upon for a public apology for having fostered an promoted intolerance and bigotry.

"But because the characters in this book are of the stock whose language we speak, whose legal traditions are the basis of our democratic freedom, and whose religion is still that of the majority of the nation, Hersey like others of his score, considers them 'open game' to be verbally prodded, gouged and lashd at authorial whim."

TO ME, this clarly implies. TO ME, thus clearly implies. Warning! You authors better not criticize anybody of old American stock; you better not write books like Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street" or "Babbett" which made "open game" of American small-towners an realtors! You better not write anything like Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad," which makes "open game" of gullible American tourists, nor John P. Marquand's many novels which are levelled at the high-toned minority up in Boston.

How thin-skinned are we Americans supposed to be?

I can't believe we've become such sensitive plants that we demand nothing but rosy praise in our books.

-:-

THAT'S, JUST WHAT the Russians demand—that every single novel or play or painting applaud every single thing in the Soviet Union. Just let a Russian novelist today try to prod or gouge any group of Communists or anything else in the U.S.S.R., and see how long he'd have a typewriter. Or even a head.

Do we want our own authors to be such toadies?

If Mr. Hersey or anybody else writes a first, second, or third-rate expose about a group in Connecticut or California or Texas or New York, all he's prodding or lashing is a bunch of his own characters whom he makes Californians or Texas or New Yorkers —old stock or new.

"HE'S NOT attacking bigotry nor "minorities" nor this great powerful nation either.

That new kind of implication, coming not from some political demagogue or soap-box crackpot, but from a major book critic makes me real nervous. Not as an author. Just as an American.

The love of a young man and woman, impeded by youth, war, and parental objection, is the crux of James Gerald Craven's novel, My Cris. Debonair Ron Wilsson, football hero and president of the Senior class of Harding high, was attracted to Ruby Crispin, the "Cris" of the title, shortly after her family moved to the small town in central Ohio. . . . the story of countless soldiers and their girls. My Cris is set during world war 2, but it could have been set in the present Korean conflict, the revolution, the war between the states, or any other American war. . . . an intricate, always exciting plot — a plot that holds the reader's attention throughout. His style is smooth, informal and witty. Pathos passages are skillfully handled, leaving the reader with a feeling of hatred, yet remorse for Mrs. Wilsson's actions."

(excerpt from review The Sioux City Sunday Journal, Sunday, May 3, 1953)

The modern American novelist Philip Wylie coined and popularized the term "momism" to characterize the over-protective, stultifying love with which some mothers, and some mothers-in-law smother their children. Mr. Wylie—and many sociologists and psychologists—have made exhaustive studies of this subject.

But it is James Gerald Craven, in his novel My Cris, who has been able to take this theme out of the recesses of musty textbooks and out of superscientific pages of psychiatric case histories — transforming them into the subject matter for a living, breathing, vibrant novel — Blurb, Exposition Press, Inc.

$90 Million Road Program Initiated

Ohio Highway Department Readying Priority List of Improvement Projects

By WILLIAM K. TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—How do you go about deciding which state highways should be major throughfares?

The new state Highway Construction Council Monday gave about 6,200 miles of existing state roads that designation. It was required by law to classify state roads, and it can spend its funds only on roads it classifies as major thoroughfares.

Next year about 90 million dollars will be spent on major thoroughfares. The Council expects to get about 43 million dollars from the new axle-mile tax on trucks and the recent penny-a-gallon tax on gasoline. The rest will come as matching funds from the federal and local governments.

Priority List Set Up

The state highway department will submit a list of about 100 road projects to the council which will decide which projects should be started first. The list sould be ready early next week.

When the council began considering classification, it started with the 1948 report on the Automotive Safety Foundation to the Ohio Program Commission. Clingan Jackson, council chairman, once was chairman of the program commission. Other council members are Wilbur M. Cotton and Jesse E. Van Fossen.

The foundation report recommended a major thoroughfare system of 4,175 miles. The council's classification statement explains how the system ended up with about 6,200 miles

The council included all the foundation's mileage in its system, except U. S. 33 west of St. Marys. Ohio 29 was submitted for that section of U. S. 33 because it carries more traffic from St. Marys to the Indiana border.

Samuel O. Linzell, state highway director, had recommended the major thoroughfare system include 8,000 miles.

160 Miles Added

The council added to the foundation's mileage about 100 miles of roads feeding into the Ohio Turnpike, due to be finished late in 1955. That had been recommended by Linzell.

Taking the Pike County atomic plant into consideration, the council included U. S. 50 from Cincinnati through Chillicothe to Marietta. U. S. 23, going through the heart of the atomic area, already was in the foundation's mileage.

Traffic conditions aren't the same now as they were in 1948, and the council considered this in adding mileage to the foundation's recommendations. Since 1948 traffic on state rural highways increased more than 33 per cent, and truck traffic alone jumped more than 50 per cent, the highway department noted.

The council statement says traffic on U. S. 50 from Cincinnati to Marietta was found to be considerably higher than in 1948, particularly in Athens County. Another reason for adding this section was that it serves a wide geographic area of the state.

Route 4 Included

"A like decision was made in adding U. S. 7 northward from Cincinnati to the Michigan border," the report says. "Long sections of Ohio 4 reaching through the heart of Ohio to Sandusky, and Ohio 7 from U. S. 62 to Conneaut also were added. A section of Ohio 7 between Steubenville and Marietta was added principally on the basis of the desirability of connecting this highway through and accommodating Ohio River industrial development. Ohio 7 and U. S. 52 together constitute the longest stretch of major thoroughfare in the state, reaching from Conneaut in the extreme northeast corner border to the extreme southwest, west of Cincinnati in Hamilton County."

Also helping make up the 6,200-mile total were these stretches added on the basis of "growing traffic and importance:"

Route 30s on List

Ohio 44 from Canton to Painesville; a combination route from Canton to Steubenville; Ohio 46 from the Youngstown — Warren district to Ashtabula; Ohio 13 from the Athens area to Mansfield; U. S. 68, Xenia - Springfield-Kenton - Bellefontaine - Findlay-Bowling Green-Toledo; Ohio 76, Coshocton-Wooster; Ohio 2, Bryan-Wauseon-Toledo; U. S. 30s, Kenton-Marion - Mansfield-Galion-Lima. These routes total about 650 miles.

"A limited mileage in other routes also was added principally on the basis of heavy truck traffic," the report said. "U. S. 24, which connects with U. S. 24 at Huntington, Ind., was added from Ottawa west to the Indiana border on the basis of heavy truck usage and interstate considerations.

"Mileage also was added to accommodate the highway and traffic programs of Ohio's largest cities on the recommendation of the state highway director."

County Chairman; Wife Attend Sesqui Closing

Harold J. Grigsby, Marion County Sesquicentennial chairman, and Mrs. Grigsby were in Columbus Tuesday night where they attended the formal closing of the 1953 celebration of Ohio's statehood. Host for the privately sponsored dinner at the Neil House was Harvey S. Firestone of Akron, chairman of the Ohio Sesquicentennial Commission.

Awards were made to organizations credited with making outstanding contributions to the observance program.

Firestone called the celebration a "remarkable success" and said that as a result of it "the citizens of Ohio know more about their state and take a greater pride in the conscientiousness of our forebears."

Speaker of the evening was Dr. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University and toastmaster was Roger H. Ferger, publisher of The Cincinnati Enquirer, and vice-chairman of the commission.

Hippo Gives Birth To 75-Pound Baby in Zoo at Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Snookie, one of the world's most contrary hippopotamuses, is a mother. And it looks as though her 75-pound, day-old baby is going to be just as stubborn as the old gal.

The little one (who will be named after Joe E. Brown or Martha Raye, as soon as its sex is determined) is "all mouth and head," says Columbus Zoo Supt Earl F. Davis.

Snookie gained national fame in 1949 when she staged a sitdown strike at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo. Attendants tried to load all 4,000 pounds of her into a truck for transfer to Columbus. They succeeded after eight days by crowding her out of her cage with tons of hay.

Play at Harding Set Thursday, Friday

Galion Council Sets Water Storage Site

Special to The Star

GALION — City Council adopted a resolution at its regualr meeting, Tuesday night, to appropriate property south of Railroad St. and east of the S. State Road, to provide water storage for the city above the ground.

It was explained that the city has tried in every way to negotiate with the owners of the property, and all have agreed to sell the land, about 32 acres of the estate of the late Michael Powers, to the city, with the exception of Mrs. Agnes Gillingham. Because of her refusal, Council plans to proceed with necessary steps to have the value of the property determined by a jury and to proceed with condemnation of the property.

An ordinance to permit the city to keep a prisoner in the city jail for three days instead of having to commit the prisoner to the county jail for this time was read. State law provides sentence at the county jail for three days for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. This legislation, if passed, would eliminate the city's having to make out commitment papers which are necessary when a prisoner is sent to the county jail.

A resolution adopted by Council authorizes the director of public service to puchase drain tile for the Galion-Crestline airport. Mayor Jay F. Nichols explained that this work can be done with money left from the fund appropriated for repairs to the airport runway.

The Council recessed until next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., when consideration will be given pay increases for the police chief and city auditor.

At Tuesday night's meeting, members of the Problems of Democracy Class of Senior High School and the teacher, Glen A. Hill, were present.

The play, whcih will be given at 8 o'clock, is directed by Mrs. Eunice Boyd of the school faculty.

New Mexico Governor's Water Problems Solved

SANTA FE, N. M., (AP)—Gov. Ed Mechem feels this state's water problems are well on the way to solution now that he has won the Teton Mountains of Wyoming.

"If we can develop a cheap source of power, I'd like to start piping the water down here now," he says.

Mechem and Gov. C. J. Rogers of Wyoming bet on the outcome of last Saturday's football game in which New Mexico defeated Wyoming 9-7. Mechem put up the Sangre de Cristo Mountains of New Mexico against the Tetons.

Will Action Case Held at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — A hearing on the contested will action of Mrs. Margaretta C. Flannery of Bucyrus, against Mrs. Mary Margaret Hipp of Galion, was conducted here Tuesday by the Third District Court of Appeals from Lima.

A verdict in favor of Mrs. Flannery was returned here by a Common Pleas Court jury last April after which the decision was carried to the appellate court. The jury returned a verdict, ruling invalid the will of Mrs. Maude T. Flannery, mother of Mrs. Hipp and mother-in-law of Mrs. Flannery. Under terms of the invalidated will, Mrs. Hipp was to have received the bulk of the estate, estimated at more than $100,000.

If the local court's decision is upheld, the estate would be distributed among the four children of Mrs. Flannery.

Clerk of Courts G. William Dustman said the appellate judges, Raymond H. Younger, presiding, George D. Middleton and Charles A. Guernsey, will make public their decision at a later date.

Plane Crashes On Maneuvers, Death Toll Is 15

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—A big C119 Flying Boxcar hurtled to earth during a mass paratrooper drop here yesterday, killing 15 men, 5 aboard and 10 floating from parachutes in its path.

The plane apparently developed engine trouble during a drop of about 1,000 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division. The drop, a 32-transport training project, was part of a conference on joint airborne operations.

The pilot, co-pilot and two other Air Force men rode the plane down along with a paratrooper trapped inside when a shovel attached to his uniform hung at the jump door. Thirty-seven others jumped safely.

The other victims had jumped from companion planes in the flight and were hit as the crippled plane descended.

One of the crash survivors, Sgt. 1.C. Hubert Sluss of Bristol, Va., said two "sticks" of 19 men each were waiting to bail out when "the plane hit something that sounded like two automobiles hitting. . . I hollered for the guys to jump but some of them just seemed to stand there."

Sluss, a "pusher" whose job is to see that the men jump on signal, said the plane "started to weave and equipment was thrown into the aisle. The men were stumbling over that trying to get out. A couple of the boys fell down and we threw them out."

He estimated that the plane was cleared, except for the crew and the trapped paratrooper, within one minute after the plane "hit something."

Wreckage and bodies were scattered over a wide area. The plane smashed through scrub pines along a 300-yard swath, exploded and burned.

Navy Says New Radio Transmitter World's Mightiest

JIM CREEK VALLEY, Wash. (AP)—The Navy will flash its first messages today to its ships, planes and stations around the world from what it calls the world's mightiest radio transmitter, high in Washington's Cascade Mountains.

Operation of the 14-million-dollar station NLK, utilizing 1,200,000 watts of power, will be started by Adm. Robert Carney, chief of naval operations, while scores of dignitaries and the nation's newsmen look on.

The station, located on a 6,000-acre site 55 miles northeast of Seattle, has been nearly six years on the draft boards and in construction. It will be turned over to the United States by David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America, which built it on contract.

Two parallel 3,000-foot mountain ridges support the 12 towers between which the antenna cables swing—some spanning a distance of 8,700 feet. From the cables trail the wires leading into the transmitter in this valley below.

The rated power, the Navy says, is 22 times greater than the biggest commercial broadcasting station in the United States and twice the power of any military transmitters.

Seven state's witnesses testified when the trial opened yesterday that Corn owned slot machine parts.

4-H Club Wins Citation

PLEASANT CLOVERETTES flash the smile of victory after being picked as one of 10 clubs in Ohio to be given the Ohio State recreation award for 1953. The club received a placque, while the county was given $25 to promote similar work.

The girls won their honors by carrying on such programs as attending special classes at Ohio State University, conducting a recreation program at the Marion County Children's Home, erecting a booth for the Marion County Fair, and participating in the 4-H Congress held at Ohio State during the summer.

Seven girls and their counsellor comprise the club.

Some of the recreation activities in which the club engaged were swimming parties, camping trips, and the beginning of a scrapbook of different games which the members collected and assorted.

At the Children's Home, the girls were given full charge of activities while they were there. They showed the children how to make and play simple games. In additon, they demonstrated some of the games they had originated.

Awards are not new to the Cloverettes. Shirley Seiter was chosen to go to a couunsellors camp at Ohio State. Janet Moyer was picked as the healthiest girl in the county, and then competed in the state contest at the state fair. Rosemary Mautz was picked to style a complete costume at the state fair and to serve as counsellor at the Ohio 4-H Club Congress.

They will not rest on the laurels won this year. Next year the girls are planning to conduct a project relating the benefits of recreation to general health.

Can't Comply With Rhodes' Request, Racing Head Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Racing Commissioner Zolton Gombos says state law stops him from complying with State Auditor James A. Rhodes' recommendation for tighter race track control.

Rhodes suggested Monday commission rules be revised so as to provide three stewards for various tracks on a rotation basis.

Yesterday Gombos replied Ohio's horse racing act won't let the commission assign more than one representative to a track at the track's expense.

Gombos said the commission could not appoint a state steward if the steward's daily salary of about $75 had to come out of commission funds unless the permit fee were raised or unless the present act was amended to allow the tracks to be billed for the state steward.

Rhodes said Monday the racing commission has been motivated more by a desire to accommodate the race track promoter than to protect the public. He said stewards have been known to have been intimidated by track operators.

BUS DRIVER JAILED

CLEVELAND (AP)—A bus driven by Bernard D. Pogue collided with the rear of a truck yesterday, and police in suburban Cleveland Heights jailed him on a drunk driving charge. The bus, enroute from nearby Windsor in Ashtabula County, is owned by a private firm.

There are about 920,000 employes in the U.S. auto industry.

Church Holds Bazaar

A steel engraving of the White House autographed by Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower will be the chief item up for bidding at 7:30 tonight at the bazaar sponsored by the women of the Epworth Methodist Church.

The picture was obtained by Johnny Eyster, the son of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Eyster. Rev. Eyster is pastor of the church. Johnny wrote to Mrs. Eisenhower asking for a letter which could be auctioned off at the bazaar.

Mary Jane McCaffree, secretary to Mrs. Eisenhower, wrote the boy and explained the First Lady had established a policy of not writing letters for church bazaars.

She did, though, return the autographed picture which will be sold to the highest bidder tonight. The picture is signed "Mamie Doud Eisenhower."

Money raised from the sale of the picture will be used to provide relief in Korea. The bazaar will last all day, beginning this morning at 10 o'clock and closing at 9 p.m.

It will be a combination bazaar, luncheon, dinner and tea. Tea will be served frob 1:30 to 4 p.m. On sale at the bazaar in addition to the picture will be aprons, candies, cookies, pastry, potholders, rugs and other items familiar at bazaars.

While money derived from the sale of the picture will be used for relief in Korea, other money obtained will be placed in the church building fund.

All activities of the day will be held at the church building. The affair has been billed as a "holiday festival."

The picture is an old-style print of the White House with a couple strolling on the sidewalk, and a horse and buggy stopped at the entrance. Under the building is the signature of Mrs. Eisenhower.

JOHNNY EYSTER
He Wrote to the White House

Johnny mailed his letter to the White House on Nov. 5. The return letter was dated Nov. 9.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Ford E. Rollman, 61, of Dayton, was killed yesterday when struck by a car north of here. Police said the driver was Clarence Christian Jr., 27, of Tipp City, a friend and former neighbor of Rollman's.

In fresco painting on wet plaster, irregular hairline cracks appear between the sections as successive areas are filled with plaster. These are covered with a very durable paint made of cottage cheese, lime and pigment.

"Swap the Bill of Rights ... for what?"

THE COMMUNISTS openly HATE our American Bill of Rights. They would like to replace it with ideas of their own.

What would we get in place of freedom of religion?
.... No religion.

In place of freedom of speech, and of the press?
.... Gags, and government-controlled newspapers.

In place of freedom from cruel and unusual punishment?
.... "Water cures" and "truth serums."

In place of the right to a fair trial?
.... The mockery of justice.

Before we ever give away even the smallest bit of our freedom, let's take a long, long look at what we're likely to get in exchange. That's the real test.

A vital cornerstone of America's economic freedom is the independent bank—with bank services designed to afford maximum convenience, protection and economy in money matters. We invite you to make full use of our services.

Marion Woman Faces Norwalk Check Charge

A Marion woman arrested in her room at the Marion Hotel Monday evening was turned over to Norwalk authorities yesterday for prosecution on a bad check charge.

Doris Bernier, 23, was first arrested on request of Postal Inspector Herzog of Norwalk at 6:37 p.m. Tuesday. Held overnight on an open charge for investigation, the bad check charge was filed against her at the Marion police department yesterday. The warrant for her arrest on this charge was signed by Louis O'Dell of Norwalk. She was returned to Norwalk at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday. No postal laws violation charges had been filed against her by Herzog at that time.

Price of Feminine Beauty Still Steady

MIAMI (UP) — Women spend the same amount today on beauty that they did in the days when hair was marcelled instead of permanent-waved.

The National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association says that per capita spending in beauty shops is $90 to $100 annually, the same as it was 35 years ago when the association was formed.

The beauticians at their recent convention predicted that gray hair soon will be as out of date as the old gray mare; that women's crowning glory soon will be as colorful as her clothes.

The group's fashion committee also decreed continued popularity for short hair—"about four inches long over most of the head, and one inch at the neck."

Brownell Lays Groundwork

White Case May Signal Fresh Series of Probes

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration, using the Harry Dexter White case as a starter, can now carry variations of it into the 1954 congressional election year.

Atty. Gen. Brownell laid the foundation—with his charge the Truman administration was lax in getting rid of Communists—for a continuing investigation into similar cases.

The 1945 FBI report which named White as a suspected Russian spy named other government employes too. Many of them, like White, were allowed to keep their jobs for months or years afterwards.

The Senate's subcommittee on internal security, which yesterday heard Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, asked former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, friend of former President Truman, to appear today.

Snyder told the committee he couldn't make it today but would answer later its questions about Harold Glasser, who was mentioned in the 1945 FBI report, held a high Treasury job, and was an adviser to White.

Glasser also was kept in government service after the FBI report and, like White, was promoted.

Just as Truman wrote White a letter of regret upon his leaving government service, Snyder wrote Glasser a similar note when he resigned. And former Secretary of State Dean Acheson wrote a note praising his work.

Later, when Glasser was called before this same subcommittee during the Truman administration, he refused 113 times to answer questions, citing the constitutional guarantee against possible self-incrimination.

Congressional committees have questioned, or attempted to question, many of those who figured in FBI investigations of espionage.

But Brownell opened up a road for going over the same ground again with a new twist: Why did the Truman administration keep these people in government service after getting FBI reports on them and then let them resign with notes of regret or praise?

Brownell, in effect, had charged Truman promoted White to a job with the International Monetary Fund although knowing he was a spy.

If congressional committees, headed by Republicans, want to pursue this kind of inquiry they can call a number of former Truman officials to explain their actions.

The Eisenhower administration alone knows why at this time it chose White as an example.

Brownell could have chosen any one of a number of other cases. Perhaps he singled out White because he had reached greater eminence in the Truman administration than the others. He was assistant secretary of the Treasury when Truman gave him the job with the fund.

Truman claimed in his Monday night broadcast that he kept White on because there was not enough evidence in the early FBI reports to convict him, and to give the FBI more time to check on him and others.

Hoover, by his testimony before the committee yesterday, indicated such a decision was strictly Truman's. He said it was taken not with FBI urging or approval but actually with FBI disapproval.

Truman already has accused Brownell of raking up the White case for purely political reasons. A continuance of this kind of examination by the Republican-dominated committees might influence next year's congressional elections.

If the Democrats in Congress share Truman's view, and some of them have indicated they do, then next year should be a savage year in Washington.

And after Brownell's attack on Truman the Democrats who have been fairly gentle with President Eisenhower may feel free to give him the kind of roughing up he must have hoped would never happen to him.

Detroiter's Possessions Split Among 50 Friends

DETROIT (AP)—Personal effects of the late Carl F. Clarke, 79-year-old art and archeological collector, will be split by lot among more than 50 friends. And it'll be done, under terms of his will, at a downtown hotel party.

Clarke put the guest list in his will and specified dinner and refreshments were to be served. Guests will claim personal effects by numbers, to be drawn from a hat. And they'll pick up their choices at the party.

Fire Insurance Rates On Dwellings To Be Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Walter A. Robinson, state insurance superintendent, said yesterday fire insurance rates for dwelling class property will be cut 7 per cent beginning Nov. 30. That will save Ohioans $1,650,000 a year on premiums, he said.

Robinson said four-family dwellings will be included in the insurance definition of dwellings that now includes only one and two-family residences.

However, "because of unfavorable experience," he said, windstorm and extended coverage rates for radio and television equipment outside buildings will be increased in all property classes.

All windstorm and hail rates will go up a bit. But combined fire and extended coverage rates for blanket property form will be reduced. So will the minimum premiums for use with that form.

Nevada Church Forms Cub Scout Organization

A sign-up night will be held Thursday at the Nevada Methodist Church for boys interested in joining the newly formed Cub Scout pack in that town.

The pack will be formed under the sponsorship of the Nevada Methodist Church and the minister, Rev. Frank McMillen, the institutional representative on the local council.

Pack committeemen are J. S. Smalley, J. W. Adams, and Wilbur Adams. Cubmaster will be Orville R. Boggs, assisted by Howard R. White. Serving as den mothers are Mrs. Boggs and Mrs. Smalley. Seven boys have indicated they are interested. Robert Gregg, chairman of the organizing committee, asks boys to bring their parents. The organizing committee consists of Gregg, Mr. Smalley, Mr. Boggs and Richard Bare.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

A Talk With Gen. Sarnoff

You may think our world—with its radar and color television and jet planes and deep freezes — is already overladen with gadgets.

J. CROSBY

But to Gen. David Sarnoff, the redoubtable president of the Radio Corporation of America, we have barely got out of caves. Gen. Sarnoff, who did so much to inflict radio and television on us has a lot of other things in store.

He doesn't, for example, think we know very much about electronics yet and haven't even begun to explore its potentialities. He can and will sketch a world of the future full of noiseless, compact, all - electronic gadgets that the world has got along without very well these many years now but which may well be the household and industrial necessities of tomorrow.

In fact, after a couple of hours with the general, you'll go home and regard your telephone as a relic of the Middle Ages that ought more properly be in the Smithsonian Institution.

NOT LONG AGO, I spent an evening with the general, chinning about the world of tomorrow. We talked among other things about the transistor, that remarkable little widget that RCA (as well as many other manufacturers) is now making. A transistor is a speck of germanium imbedded in glass, the whole thing about three-quarters the size of a dime. It can do anything a vacuum tube can do, needs practically no power, will probably replace all the tubes in a radio set and eventually in a television set. Some day it may even replace the picture tube.

What, I asked, would this mean —that TV and radio sets would be much smaller and much cheaper? The general conceded that this was possible but his mind was a million or so years ahead of these mundane considerations. "The first thing a transistor will do is increase mass communications because I think that with the advent of the transistor, personal radio will come into use," he said. "Everybody will have a little radio in his pocket as you carry a watch."

"How big will this little radio be?" I asked.

"I can conceive a personal radio no larger than a match box or a pack of cigarettes. You could have a little ear piece in your pocket attached to a nice little chain. I can conceive that thing being a transmitter as well as a receiver. You'd have a portable telephone. If you'd want to talk to anyone, you'd get a connection with a radio relay — same as you use in the automobile telephone.

"I CAN GO FARTHER. The frequencies which are now so precious and which people fight over —VHF and UHF and so forth—will eventually be so plentiful there will be enough for every individual just as he has his own license number for an automobile. You have one of these little things in your pocket and you are walking down the street and you get a little jingle. Somebody is calling you wherever you are. If you want to get hold of John Crosby and you ring his frequency without getting an answer, then he is either drunk or he is dead. Otherwise, you should be able to get him wherever he is."

"That," I said fervently, "is a pretty frightening prospect." I happen to be one of those people who look upon the telephone as a decidedly mixed blessing. To the general, though, communication of any form is the basic distinction between man and animal and any extension of communication tends to civilize mankind a little more.

"If a wife knows her husband's frequency, could she tune in on it and eavesdrop?" I asked somewhat apprehensively.

THE GENERAL SMILED: "No, we have not got that far."

Still, the whole thing is a little unnerving as are most of the general's predictions. Television's encroachments on privacy aroused quite a lot of bitter comment only a few years ago. Today they are accepted as a matter of course, so quickly do people get used to the inevitable.

These encroachments have just begun, the general intimated. There are a whole lot of other things in store for us. But they'll have to wait till another day.

Don't Be in Hurry To Criticize, Wives Of Ministers Told

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—If ministers' wives don't like their husbands' taste in clothing or his choice of words in a Sunday sermon, they should keep quiet—at least for three days.

A panel of Baptist ministers' wives decided that Wednesday is the ideal day to mention anything uncomplimentary to their husbands.

"It takes that long for them to simmer down," said one panel member.

The occasion was the annual ministers wives conference, which preceded the opening session yesterday of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention's meeting.

The wives also handed out this advice: always send thank-you notes for gifts; don't exchange confidences with members of the congregation; and don't entertain one family at a time in the parsonage.

ELECTION LATE

MANSFIELD, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' municipal elections were held Nov. 3—except in Mansfield. Officials forgot to have ballots printed in time here, so the voting was not run off until yesterday.

Storage Building Leveled at Nevada

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — Fire of unknown origin destroyed a large frame storage building and contents, including auto tires and tubes and several drums of oil at Nevada, eight miles east of here, Tuesday afternoon.

The fire was discovered at 1 p.m. and had apparently broken out under the roof of the two-story building. The Nevada fire department immediately called both the Upper Sandusky and Sycamore firemen to assist in confining the blaze.

The storage building was connected to the rear of the Coon's Tire Store on the main street of Nevada and the rapidly spreading flames for a time threatened to reach the store building. Residents of the neighborhood removed a large part of the merchandise from the tire store and adjoining business places, but firemen brought the blaze under control at 2:15 p.m.

Loss was partially covered by insurance but employes said a check of the valuation would require some time.

Sewer Plans Discussed With Crestline Council

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE — Four men interested in the building of a new Baptist church in the southwest part of Crestline met with the waterworks board and members of village council Monday night preceding the Council meeting to discuss a water line and sewer plans.

Ground of the new church is to be broken Saturday. The congregation is at present meeting in a remodeled building formerly used as a hatchery on E. Bucyrus St.

At the regular meeting of Council, Vernon Township trustees were present in regards to renewal of Crestline's fire protection contract with the township. The contract was renewed for the south half of the township at the rate of $300 a year. The new contract is to run until March, 1956, in order to make all fire protection contracts expire at the same time.

Workman Gets 'Ride' As Water Main Breaks

DETROIT (AP)—Tolbert Chamberlain, 49, a Water Board workman, rode a stream of water out of a seven-foot deep excavation when the main burst.

"I came out of there like I was shot from a cannon," Chamberlain said as he picked himself off the grass unharmed. The 40-foot stream drenched cars and pedestrians nearby for 10 minutes before the water was shut off.

PET DUCKS SHOT

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—Sheriff Roy Taylor is gunning for some duck hunters who shot his four sitting ducks. The sheriff kept the four clipped-wing mallards on a pond near his home. Shotgun blasts killed all of them.

Los Angeles Show Not Risque, Greek Royal Guests Say

BELEN, N. M. (AP)—Los Angeles' perturbed officials can relax—the King and Queen of Greece took no offense at entertainment presented them in the Coast city.

As a matter of fact, petite Queen Frederika said during a short stop here yesterday on the royal couple's eastbound trip that she thought "it was lovely."

And King Paul answered when asked if he thought the performance was risque:

"Not at all, not at all."

It all began at a banquet given last Saturday in Los Angeles. Songstress Eartha Kitt and actor Dick Powell drew the belated ire of the Los Angeles officials, who considered the entertainment risque.

Mayor Norris Poulson said he was shocked with the program, especially with some of Miss Kitt's songs. Other politicos lamented part of Powell's chatter.

Eddie Rio of the American Guild of Variety Artists said, "It'll be a cold day before I ask another entertainer to appear at a civic function for free."

Miss Kitt declared last night, "It now seems to me that Mayor Poulson owes me and every artist on that program an apology."

As for the King and Queen, they seemed a trifle amused that such a question ever arose.

OSU End Reaches Top

Hague Makes Fans Forget His Bigger Brother Jimmy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The college football career of Tommy Hague, the fleet, ham-handed end from Rocky River, is just about over. But the hefty Ohio State senior has realized a long-standing ambition.

He's made the fans forget he is Jimmy Hague's kid brother.

Jim Hague became the hero of Ohio Jan. 2, 1950, when he booted a field goal in the waning moments of a game before 100,963 spectators in Pasadena to give the Buckeyes a 17-14 Rose Bowl win over California.

That was about the time Tommy was just entering Ohio State. And, throughout most of his gridiron career, the younger Hague was known as much because he is Jim's brother as for his own football prowess.

But the gritty guy from suburban Cleveland changed things this year.

He started the season as a nobody—No. 3 end behind Dean Dugger and Bob Joslin. He's somebody now.

An injury to Dugger gave his 6-foot, 192-pound understudy a chance. Hague made good.

First, he was considered merely a good defenseman, but pretty soon Coach Woody Hayes was calling him his best pass catcher. And in each game, Tommy looked better. So far this season, the 21-year-old has caught 18 passes for 256 yards and four touchdowns.

Twice he grabbed the ball from two defenders for touchdowns, one a 25-yard jump peg from Howard Cassady against Northwestern and the other a Johnny Borton aerial against Purdue.

Earlier he toed an all-important placement in Ohio's 20-19 win over Wisconsin.

Defensively, Tom has proved a rugged, rock'em, sock'em tackler who refuses to be shaken off.

Hayes keeps Hague pretty busy, too, Tommy does the kicking off. And only once this year has he played under 30 minutes. He was in 25 minutes against California. In the last four games he has worked 40 minutes or more.

His coach calls one factor most responsible for making Hague a good football player:

"Tommy has wonderful heart."

Illini, Buckeyes Picked To Win Closing Games

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The frost isn't even on the pumpkin and the football season zooms to a close in the Big Ten Saturday. Thus, a shirt-sleeved swami takes a final gander at the crystal ball:

Illinois 19, Northwestern 7 — Alan (The Horse) Ameche bounced the Illini out of the saddle last Saturday (us, too), but that makes it tougher for the hapless Wildcats. That Badger defeat gives Ray Eliot his first chance to get the Illini mad this season. This is for a share of the Big Ten title and a possible Rose Bowl trip.

Notre Dame 14, Iowa 13 — All along, your stumbling seer has contended Iowa was the team which could know off the fighting Irish. In goring the Gophers and Paul Giel, however, the Hawkeyes may have shot their wad. The Irish have been able to prime their reserves for the remaining pressure from Iowa, Southern California and Southern Methodist.

Michigan State 19, Marquette 13—If MSC's Spartans weren't concerned with a blazing non-conference finish to convince the Big Ten of their Rose Bowl worthiness, we'd bet a quick bobbin on Marquette. The Hilltoppers, nipped by Wisconsin only 13-11, will do their best to make Michigan State remember this was once a red hot rivalry.

Wisconsin 14, Minnesota 7 — The Badgers appear to be at their peak. Ameche and Harland Carl, behind Jim Miller's quarterbacking and a stout defense, should take up where Iowa left off against the Gophers, who ran out of gas, or Giel, or both.

Ohio State 20, Michigan 13—For the first time in many harvest seasons, this traditional finale has no bearing on the Big Ten championship. It's the first time in quite a spell, too, the Wolverines can't match the Buckeyes in backfield finesse.

Purdue 7, Indiana 0—At this late date, we've discovered the home arena means quite a bit to one-platoon footballers—but the Boilermakers should get their second conference win on the Hoosiers' home field.

Alston Denies Reports He'll Manage Brooklyn

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Walter Alston, 42, manager of the Montreal International League club, says he knows nothing about a report he has been chosen as the new manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The New York Daily Mirror, in a story bylined by Ken Smith, said: "This information was learned Tuesday from a source close to the Ebbets Field inner headquarters."

"You know more about it than I," Alston commented here. "I haven't heard a word from Brooklyn . . . and I'd have to talk to club officials."

Montreal is a farm club of the Dodgers.

Irish To Receive Mid-Ohio Circuit Grid Title Tonight

Seniors Larry Ryan and Pat O'Connor have been elected honorary co-captains of the 1953 St. Mary football squad.

Ryan, the regular fullback, tallied six touchdowns throughou the season to share top scoring honors with Mike Anderson. Ryan also ranked second in ground-gaining, lugging the ball 75 times for 437 yards, a average of 5.8 yards per carry. John Messenger was first with an average of 6.2 yards per carry, 449 yards in 73 carries.

O'Connor, a standout end, was one of Quarterback Roger Michell's favorite passing targets. He scored four touchdowns, all on passes from Michell.

The Irish this year had their best season since they went undefeated in 1943. They had a 7-1 record and copped the Mid-Ohio title with a 4-0 slate in league play.

St. Mary will receive its championship trophy tonight at the Mid-Ohio League's annual fall dinner-meeting at the Hotel Harding.

Besides the awarding of trophies, other business at tonight's meeting will be the selection of all-league football teams and the making of final arrangements for the basketball season.

Johnsville Cagers To Defend Crown

JOHNSVILLE — Coach James DiMeolo, who last season guided his Johnsville five to the Morrow County crown and tournament championship, points to the league opener with Chesterville next Wednesday and hopes his squad can repeat last year's 21-3 performance.

Three returning lettermen form this year's Johnsville unit. Captain Arden Walker and Glenn Myers, both 6-0 seniors, and Donald Rinehart, a 5-10 junior, expect help from Lyle Snavely, 5-8, and Clayton Fry, 5-6, who are also juniors. Neal Baker, 5-7, and Glade Bachelder, 6-0, both seniors, make up the remaining members of last year's varsity squad. Buck Keen, Dalton Stewart, Charles Kunze and Dick Grossman are also making determined bids for a varsity position.

Johnsville will be hurt on the floor by its lack of heighth but reportedly its team speed and aggressiveness will make it a well rounded and better defensive ball club. Coach DiMeolo's quintet advanced to the second round of the district tourney at Capital University Auditorium last year before falling before Midway.

A feature of this year's Johnsville schedule is the alumni game Jan. 5. Heading the Alumni will be Cover, Linn and Mitchell, big guns on last year's Johnsville team.

DiMeolo, an Ohio State graduate, is in his second year at Johnsville He also coaches the baseball squad.

Tryon displayed good form during the spring meetings in Maryland and continued to gain in popularity at Delaware Park where he won nine races. Al's father, also Al Tryon, was a jockey and rode until he was 41 years old. The elder Tryon's career came to an abrupt halt after a bad spill during a morning workout.

Cincy Football Team Leads in Total Offense

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two speedy halfbacks who average nearly a first down every time they lug the ball spark the University of Cincinnati football team, the nation's leading major squad in total offense and rushing.

At left half is Dick Goist, 175-pound junior from Mahoning County, Ohio, hometown New Springfield. In the eight UC victories and one defeat, Goist has carried the ball 58 times for 551 yards, an average of 9.5 per carry.

At right half is Dom Del Bene, 165-pound senior from Girard, Ohio. He's spurted 397 yards on 40 runs, an average of 9.9 yards.

The Bearcats, coached by Sid Gillman, today hold the nation's top offense and rushing averages, according to the National College Athletic Assn. The NCAA figures Cincinnati for total offense of 3,803 yards — better than two miles. Rushing has totaled 2,759 yards in nine games.

Goist was rated a top defensive halfback before the end of two-platoon football. He had no difficulty in becoming an ace on offense. Del Bene, co-captain of the squad, has always been quick to spot any hole.

The boys are light in weight but Gillman says, "We want them large in the heart, not in the body."

"We have a change-of-pace team, not a second squad," Gillman told a reporter. "Eleven men work as a unit playing about half the game. We don't believe in iron men."

If not iron men, the Bearcats, have other powerful "steal" men who have robbed their opponents of centuries of yardage. They include fullbacks Joe Concilla and Joe Miller and halfbacks Dick Pardini, Irv Turner and Jack Hill.

Despite its tremendous offense record, it's tough to rate Cincinnati as a top powerhouse because of some of its competition. It has played Marquette, only victor, and Tulsa, William & Mary, Toledo, Xavier, Western Reserve, Dayton, Louisville and VMI.

Gillman's eleven will close its season Thanksgiving against Miami of Ohio.

"We don't get excited about any total offense figures," Gillman said. "The only thing we are concerned about is the win-loss column."

Dan Bucceroni Picked To Win In TV Feature

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Philadelphia's Dan Bucceroni faces aging Freddie Beshore of Los Angeles tonight in a 10-round heavyweight fight in Olympic Auditorium.

The match will be televised nationally by CBS at 10 p. m., EST

Bucceroni, 26, and at 6 feet 3, much taller than the 31-year-old Beshore, is the decided favorite. Youth and a harder punch are in his favor.

But whether the Philadelphian, who hopes to land a title fight with champion Rocky Marciano next year, can put Fearless Freddie on the deck remains to be seen.

Beshore's only loss via a knockout was a one-rounder to young Billy McClure about eight years ago. In subsequent fights Marciano, Joe Louis, Ezzard Charles and other name fighters were unable to put the Californian off his feet.

Bucceroni, appearing in Los Angeles for the first time, is having a good year. He has beaten Tommy Harrison and Jimmy Slade and his total record of 47 bouts shows 27 victories by knockouts and only 3 losses

Beshore dropped out of the heavyweight picture entirely last year, but decided to return to the ring wars. He started off by whipping a then promising young heavyweight here, Abel Fernandez.

Then he went to Portland, Ore., and fought Harry (Kid) Matthews to a draw. In a rematch, Matthews won on a split decision.

NET STARS ADVANCE

SYDNEY (AP) —America's Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert advanced today to the doubles final of the New South Wales Tennis Tournament. They beat Mervy Rose and Rex Hartwig 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4 in a semifinal match.

Doctor Blames One-Platoon Plan for Increase in Injuries

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—The return of the one-platoon system was blamed by a University of Virginia doctor today for an "alarming" 30 per cent increase in injuries to players on Virginia's football squad.

Dr. Charles J. Frankel, a faculty member at the university's Medical School and examiner for the American Board of Orthopedic Surgery, said there has been a similar upswing in injuries at other colleges he has checked.

Furthermore, he said, the injuries have been more severe than in the days of unlimited substitutions.

"College athletes, with few exceptions, are not as rugged as a generation ago," Dr Frankel, Virginia team physician, declared.

He said injuries this year have been more frequent and more serious not only in actual game competition but in practice sessions as well The practice injuries are attributable to the efforts of coaches to condition their players to action on both offense and defense, Dr. Frankel said.

All such efforts, he added, are doomed to failure because today's college man, by and large, isn't the iron man his father was

"Military service examinations have schown that all across the country, this generation of young men is less rugged than the last," he said. "Most boys today don't walk as much as they used to. They usually ride in an auto and consequently their legs and their bodies are weaker."

As team doctor here, Dr. Frankel has kept records of all football injuries at Virginia since 1935. This year the injuries are running 30 per cent ahead of the average for the last 19 years, he said.

Iowa's Star Named Lineman of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — A lad whose football career was believed ended by illness last spring—Bill Fenton, Iowa end—was named the Associated Press lineman of the week today

Iowa surprised Minnesota, 27-0, and Fenton's feats in smearing Minnesota's famed Paul Giel earned him the nod in the weekly voting by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Giel, held to a mere 13 yards by rushing, didn't hesitate to praise Fenton.

"That boy Fenton was in my hair all afternoon," Giel said. "He was terrific, all right."

Minnesota coach, Wes Fesler, echoed that statement.

Fenton, a senior pre-medical student, won the lineman honor a year ago under somewhat similar circumstances. In 1952 Iowa stunned Ohio State, 8-0, and Fenton's terling performance made him a campus celebrity. Later he was voted Iowa's most valuable player.

Unexpectedly he became ill last spring and was bedridden for several months. His football days were believed over. Then the situation changed. He made a rapid recovery and this fall again has been outstanding in the Iowa line.

Browns' Groza Eyes New NFL Kicking Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Lou (The Toe) Groza is well on his way to breaking his own record for most field goals in one season. The latest national football league statistics show Groza has kicked 15 three pointers. His record set last year is 19.

Groza is leading the league in points scored with 68—15 field goals and 23 extra points. He still has four games to play. Bobby Walston of the Philadelphia Eagles ranks second in the scoring race with 63 points, 4 touchdowns, 30 conversions and three field goals. Another accurate man with the foot, Ben Agajanian of Los Angeles, is third in scoring with 60—30 conversions and 10 field goals.

Otto Graham, despite 15 stitches in a badly mutilated jaw, increased his average gain in yards from 10.69 to 10.86 to maintain his leadership as the league's top passer. He has attempted 174, completed 113 for 1,889 yards and 7 touchdowns. His completion percentage is 64.9.

Joe Perry of San Francisco tops the ground gainers for the sixth consecutive week with 837 yards on 128 attempts, an average of almost five yards per carry. Dan Towler of Los Angeles is second with 527 yards and Charley Justice of Washington third with 515.

Then Kalb took over. He dumped in eight field goals and added a pair of free throws during his one-man assault. Meeker Loses Tilt, High Scoring Star

Marseilles broke a tie in the final three minutes last night to down Meeker 45-40.

Meeker lost more than the game. Center Ronald Newland sprained his ankle mid-way through the third period and will probably be out of play for a couple of weeks. Despite the injury which kept him out of action for the latter part of the game, he had 15 points to pace the Meeker scoring attack.

Forward Rex Redding was high man for winning Marseilles with 15 markers. In the reserve tilt Marseilles racked up a 44-37 victory with Donald Griffin pacing the scoring with 13 points.

Meeker won a decisive victory in the junior high tilt, running away with a 56-29 win. Bill White had 17 to be the high man for the winners. Meeker's next contest is next Tuesday with Mt. Victory at Meeker.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged up slightly today as the flood of dividend reports continued to create some irregularity in the list.

Gains ran to around a point at the best while losses were usually in the smaller fractions.

Trading was rather light at a pace under yesterday's 1,250,000 shares, a level well below the daily average so far this year.

Steels were higher for the most part with Republic Steel moderately active. Going up with the steels were the motors, merchandising shares, most coppers, and railroads.

Among higher stocks were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Boeing, American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, Southern Railway, and Johns-Manville.

Coffee analysts estimate that, based on nutritional income for the first seven months of this year, the average consumer will spend 0.659 per cent of his income on coffee during 1953. In 1935, the percentage was 0.676.
